NO VOTES OF SETTLEMENT IN STRIKES SEEN

Election Day Finds Major Labor Disputes in Stalemate Status Quo.

By The Associated Press

Election day brought no votes of settlement in the country's crippling labor disputes although there appeared some hope of agreement in the 16-day-old strike of AFL pilots against Trans-World Airline.

As negotiations in the soft coal dispute were in recess today in Washington the top labor meeting of the capital involved representatives of the striking pilots and of TWA who renewed efforts to draft an arbitration agreement which would end the walkout.

Both sides yesterday accepted in principle the proposal of federal mediator Frank P. Douglass that the dispute be submitted to an arbitration panel. But Douglass and company and union lawyers, after a lengthy conference, hit a stumbling block on whether the arbitration agreement should cover TWA's proposal that pilots on its international runs be paid a flat salary instead of by base pay, mileage and hours formula, as at present.

Plans Further Meeting

Douglass planned to confer with TWA President Jack Frye before meeting again with attorneys for the striking AFL Air Line Pilots association and TWA. The union's 1,400 pilots struck Oct. 21 in a dispute over wages and some 15,000 workers have been made idle by the walkout.

As scattered wildcat coal strikes spread yesterday increasing the number of idle coal miners estimated by union and mine officials from 8,000 to 10,000, Washington reports said that John L. Lewis president of the AFL United Mine Workers, would present his wage demands in a meeting with Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug late this week.

The strike-bound plant of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. at West Allis, Wis., was closed today as deputy sheriffs, on duty because of flareups last week, were assigned to election duties. Sheriff George Handley said rumors of disturbance persist."

Conference Sought

A federal mediator attempted to arrange a meeting between company officials and leaders of the striking CIO-United Auto Workers to attempt settlement of the 189-day old dispute.

A CIO-UAW international representative said that 21 Milwaukee locals, representing from 15,000 to 17,000 members, had voted financial and picketing support to the local striking at the plant.

At San Francisco the committee for maritime unity and waterfront employers association said that steam schooner issue in the 38-day CIO Longshoremen's strike was settled but there was no indication of a return to work. The employers association said the longshoremen had withdrawn demands for division of loading duties between CIO longshoremen and AFL sailors who operate the coastwise ships (steam schooners).

River Boats Tied Up

There was a tieup of boats operated on the Missouri, Mississippi and Illinois rivers by the federal barge lines, a government agency, because of a dispute involving 380 members of the CIO National Maritime Union and AFL longshoremen. A union leader at St. Louis said the company dismissed a union employe in violation of a union contract and hired laborers at St. Paul at rates not union-approved.

In the two-month old strike by the Los Angeles Newspaper Guild against the Herald-Express, the management made a new proposal for wage increases. The offer proposed weekly increases ranging from $5 weekly for employes earning less than $39.99 a week to $10 for those earning more than $69.99.

At Columbus, Ga., the morning Enquirer and the afternoon Ledger resumed publication after settlement of a wage dispute with AFL printers.

SEES TWA STRIKE'S END

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—Federal mediator Frank P. Douglass said he hoped to "wind up" today the details of an arbitration agreement designed to end a strike of 1,400 Trans-World Airline pilots.

U. S. AND BRITAIN JOIN IN UN MOVE

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov 5—The United States and Great Britain were reported confident today of their ability to head off a reported Russian move which might block creation of the United Nations trusteeship council at the present session of the general assembly.

John Foster Dulles, who alternates with Rep Sol Bloom (D-NY) as U S representative on the assembly's 51-nation trusteeship committee, was said to be ready to offer a proposal by which he hoped to avert a showdown on the controversial questions as to whether Soviet Russia had any right to "veto" approval of trusteeship agreements for mandated territories.

Dulles' specific proposal is that the assembly sidestep a decision at the present session on which states are "directly concerned" in the eight draft agreements requiring assembly approval before the trusteeship council can be set up.

While not mentioning Russia directly, the U S proposal was understood to have resulted from reports that Russia would take the position that the five major powers came within the charter definition of "states directly concerned" and that the refusal of any one of the five to approve the draft agreements would prevent assembly action.

Russia has not yet declared her views publicly on this question, but it was known that members of the U S delegation had had at least one long talk with Soviet representatives in an effort to get them to make no fight over the issue at this time.

The U S delegation was understood to have arrived at no decision as to what its own stand eventually would be on the question of whether the five big powers were "directly concerned."

REPRESENTS BIDAULT. Arriving on th S.S. Aquitania, Maurice Couve de Murville will represent French Premier-President Georges Bidault at the "Big Four" Foreign Ministers sessions in New York during the early stages of the conference. Bidault will arrive in a few days.

U. S., BRITAIN SET ALFRED KRUPP TRIAL

By The Associated Press

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 5 — American and British war crimes authorities were reported today to have reached an agreement whereby the British will try Alfred Krupp, youthful head of the Krupp armament firm, on war crimes charges.

Sources close to the negotiations said Krupp's ailing father, Gustav, probably would be turned over to the British in connection with the investigation of the huge concern which fed the German war machine through two World wars.

The father is a prisoner of the Americans. The son is in British internment.

There had been speculation that Alfred Krupp might be included among a large group of German industrialists facing trial by American authorities at Nuernberg early next year.

American authorities, the informants said, had "come around" to the tentative agreement for the British to prosecute Alfred Krupp as his main interests are in the British zone of Germany. They said no trial date had been set.

Both Krupps were at one time considered for trial by the Nuernberg international military tribunal. Gustav Krupp originally was to have been tried, but he was said to be too ill.

A lengthy brief instead was prepared against his son, who took over the Krupp plants in 1943, but it was never presented to the court.

SOVIET-U. S. TRADE AGREEMENT REACHED

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Nov. 5—The Soviet military government announced today that German economic ministers of the Russian and American occupation zones had negotiated a new trade agreement providing for the exchange of about $3,800,000 worth of goods within the next three months.

The agreement negotiated at Wiesbaden when German officials from the Russian zone were guests at a greater Hessian trade exposition, was hailed in the Soviet-controlled press here as a further boost to intertonal commerce. This was the second major trade deal negotiated between the Soviet and American zones.

The Soviet zone also has recently negotiated exchanges with the British and French zones.

Under the new agreement the U. S. zone is to deliver to the Soviet zone 19,000 work animals and large tonnages of hops in exchange for deliveries of sugar, grain, potatoes, brown coal (lignite) and alcohol. No tonnage figures were given.

Large Election Turnout Points Toward Record

Big Off-Year Vote Shaping as U. S. Gives Verdict on Reconversion.

By The Associated Press

Heavy balloting in many big population centers pointed toward a possible record "off-year" vote today as Americans chose a new congress in the first peacetime general elections in six years.

Election officials called the early turnout in Chicago "very heavy" although Illinois had neither governorship nor senatorial races.

In Ohio, it was "unusually heavy." In Michigan it was the same. Similar reports came from Pennsylvania. Kansas City Mo., reported an exceptionally heavy early vote.

The first precinct to report was Point Aux Barques in Huron county, Michigan.

12 G.O.P., 1 Democrat

Twelve of the 12 eligible voters there cast straight Republican ballots, one a straight Democratic. The count from the precinct in 1944 was 14 Republican, six Democratic. In 1942, last off-year election, Republicans carried the precinct, 7-6.

For the country as a whole, fine fall weather encouraged a large vote. An exception was the Rocky Mountain area where one of the heaviest snowstorms in years moved in over the weekend.

Despite the heat engendered by some contests, the forenoon balloting saw no major violence. In New York City's Harlem, a Republican district captain reported he was slugged from behind while walking near a polling place. He suffered a lacerated scalp and possible internal injuries.

President and Mrs. Truman and daughter, Margaret, were among the early voters at Independence, Mo. After casting "straight Democratic" tickets they boarded a train for Washington.

In the swelling tide of ballots, the voters registered their reaction to nearly 15 months of government efforts to shift the nation's economic machinery from war to peace.

On that prime issue, Republicans confidently predicted the Democrats would be swept out of power in congress, where they have held the upper hand in both houses since 1932.

Democrats, generally fighting a defensive battle against G.O.P. assaults on their handling of reconversion problems, conceded they may suffer some losses. But they contended they will keep the legislative machinery in their grasp. They apparently were more confident, however, of retaining senate control than of the house.

At stake in the election expected to bring out more than 35,000,000 citizens in weather forecast as fair and cool generally, although rainy in the south and snowy in the rockies, are 35 senate places, 432 house seats and 33 governorships.

Need 10-Seat Gain

The Republicans need a net gain of 10 seats to win control of the senate and 26 to take over the house. The Democrats could lose seven in the senate and 17 in the house and still hold the legislative whip hand.

The possibility of a divided congress, with the G.O.P. winning the house and the Democrats keeping

HEAVY STATE METROPOLITAN VOTE REPORTED

Columbus, Dayton, Youngstown See Biggest Off-Year Turnout.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5—Heavier than normal voting was reported in Ohio metropolitan areas today as the citizens gave their attention to elections contests commanding national attention.

Clear, crisp weather encouraged the turnout, and in Columbus, Dayton, and Youngstown the heaviest off-year balloting on record was predicted by election officials.

In Bexley, fashionable suburb of Columbus where the voters customarily arrive late at the polling booths, they were pouring in early.

The balloting also was exceptionally heavy in Campbell, Struthers and other communities in the steel-producing area of Youngstown.

Reports from other cities:

Toledo—slightly heavier than usual, Cleveland—much heavier than usual, indicative of heaviest vote since 1940, Cincinnati—heaviest off-year voting in years anticipated.

Voters, officially expected to approximate 2,215,000, also selected four other state officials, a (9-day senator, 23 congressmen and 175 state legislators as well as judicial and local office holders.

Cloudy and cooler weather was on tap for voting, which began at 6:30 a. m. and ends at 6:30 p. m. in the state's 9,352 polling places. Liquor stores closed and bars may not legally sell liquor until an hour after polls close.

The vote received by former Gov. John W. Bricker, 1944 Republican vice presidential nominee, in his contest to unseat Democratic U. S. Sen. James W. Huffman, is of national interest in gauging Bricker's stature as Presidential timber two years hence.

Could Pass Taft

Should Bricker amass the 300,000 or more plurality some Republicans predict, his position as junior Ohio senator would compare more favorably with that of Sen. Robert A. Taft, G.O.P. congressional leader whose friends say still wants to be President.

Democrats have expressed confidence that Huffman, former OPA attorney endorsed by the CIO, will be returned to the senate but they pin their strongest vote-getting hopes on Gov. Frank J. Lausche, former Cleveland mayor, bidding for reelection as governor in an independent campaign.

Should Lausche turn back former Atty. Gen. Hugh J. Herbert, another Clevelander, Democrats have predicted that the governor's name would figure prominently in consideration of national candidates in 1948.

To Ballot Together

Both Lausche and Herbert have scheduled their balloting at the same time and place in Cleveland. Bricker and Huffman vote at separate polling places in Columbus suburbs.

In a radio speech at Cleveland last night, the governor said a large mass of Americans find themselves forgotten and without representation.

Lausche said that Republicans feel their "responsibility lies principally to big business and industry" while Democrats believe they owe allegiance to "powerful labor leaders."

Concluding that he had not allowed his judgment to become influenced by demands from pressure groups, Lausche said "a policy of this type did not build up my political strength because I remained true to my oath and I did advance the welfare of the people of my state."

Bricker in a radio address urged Ohioans to "keep the faith" with veterans of World War II by voting for Republican candidates and principles. He reiterated denunciation of the New Deal and his charges that there was Communist influence in the national administration, two topics which ran through a majority of his campaign talks.

Huffman spent election eve at home with family and friends.

Herbert departed on a final radio network address, appealing to voters to "keep and the New Deal."

FIRE DAMAGES SCIOTO PLANT

$50,000 Loss Suffered by Appliance Company in Boiler Room Blaze.

Damage estimated at $50,000 by Allen A. Sector, president of the Royal Master Appliance Co., resulted from a fire in the boiler house at the company's factory at the Scioto Ordnance plant early this morning.

The equipment, owned by the U. S. government, is leased to the Royal Master Appliance Co., which is liable for damages. Mr. Sector said the loss is covered by insurance.

Principal damage, Mr. Sector said, was to switchboard wiring. The boiler itself is intact. The fire spread through the one-story concrete boiler house, burning the roof and cracking windows. It was discovered simultaneously about 5:30 a. m. by the day fireman coming on duty and the ordnance plant patrol. It was brought under control within a short time by the ordnance plant fire department. City firemen were not called.

Cause of the fire was undetermined.

Mr. Sector said activities of the plant, which manufactures electrical appliances, would be curtailed for a few days, but the plant would not close down.

REP. MAY IN FIRST PUBLIC APPEARANCE

By The Associated Press

PRESTONBURG, Ky., Nov. 5—Rep. A. J. May (D-Ky), striving to retain the congressional seat he has held for 16 years, made his first official public appearance in more than four months to vote early today.

The veteran chairman of the house military affairs committee went to a polling place set up in the school house, directly across from his brown brick home here, where he said he voted the straight Democratic ticket.

"I feel about ordinary," May said in reply to questions from newsmen, as he strolled alongside the school house with his son, Robert V. May. He smiled for cameramen, and, after voting, came outside and shook hands with well wishers.

May declined to make any statements about the outcome of his race for the Seventh Kentucky district house seat with W. Howard Meade, 36, Pikeville attorney and former Navy officer.

Meade voted early today at Pikeville and returned home to await the results.

Republicans have claimed May would lose by 4,000 votes to Meade, but Democrats would con-

NOON SURVEY SHOWS VOTE TO RUN HIGH HERE

Precincts in City and County Report Balloting Better Than Average.

Marion county electors today were joining those throughout the state and nation in the procession to the election polls, climaxing one of the most active political campaigns in the county in several years.

Reports from several of the presiding judges in the city at noon today indicated a better than average vote would result from today's balloting. Only one precinct reported voting was slow, another reported it average but others said the balloting was running better than average. All presiding judges expected heaviest voting to come after working hours this afternoon. The polls will remain open until 6:30 p. m. and the vote count in the city's 30 and the county's 25 precincts will start immediately following.

Survey of Polls

A survey of voting precincts at noon indicated today's vote would run between 16,000 and 20,000, heavier than the last state election in 1942 but slightly under the total vote cast in the presidential election in 1944.

Total vote cast in 1942 was 13,377, with 8,939 for the city and 4,438 for the county. In 1944 the Marion county vote ran 21,037, with 14,134 ballots for the city and 6,903 for the county.

The special two-mill school levy to increase Marion teachers' salaries was reported to be bringing out parents of many school children who otherwise would not have gone to the polls. The school levy requires a simple majority to pass.

Last minute preparations were being made in several sections of the city to provide the public with up-to-the minute accounts of the election returns. Special telephone news service about the election will be provided by The Star, including vote counts of county and district contests and the city school levy as returns are received from the board of elections. Associated Press reports of election returns from the state and nation also will be available at The Star office and persons in the Marion area may receive election information by calling The Star's phone number 2314. Calls may be made at any time throughout the night, although no returns from Marion city and county precincts are expected before 9 p. m.

Party Headquarters Opening

Election returns also will be available at both Republican and Democratic club headquarters, where election parties will be staged and election service provided until all the city and county precinct totals have been tabulated. The Democratic headquarters is located on West Center street and Republican headquarters on East Center street. Both clubs will be open to the public and light refreshments will be served. The parties are being sponsored by the Marion County Republican club and the Marion County Democratic club.

Balloting was running better than average in Precinct A, Fourth Ward; Precinct A, Fifth Ward and Precinct D, Third Ward, reports indicated at noon.

In Precinct A, Fourth Ward, election workers said 130 voters had balloted this morning. The average vote in a general election in the precinct approximates 400, the presiding judge there said, and indicated that the vote might run over that figure before the polls close.

Precinct A, Fifth Ward reported 148 votes cast by noon and workers there said balloting had been heavier than they had ever known it for so early in the day. Average vote in the precinct for a general election is about 400.

A steady line of voters also was reported at Precinct D, Third Ward, with 127 ballots cast by noon. Workers there expected the vote to go [illegible] before the polls [illegible].

Precinct A, Sixth Ward reported [illegible] by noon and [illegible] Precinct B, [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] by 12 [illegible] vote.

The miracle you seldom think about

Rain or shine, summer or winter, the milk your family needs is waiting on your doorstep—pure, fresh and wholesome

The speed at which milk travels through all the stages of scientific, health-protective handling is a miracle of modern dairy management.

Your dairy pays a big price for speed—because speed is so vital to the freshness, safety and wholesomeness of the milk you get so easily.

One of the extra safeguards this dairy uses is the Sealright Hood. Sealed on the bottle at 500 degrees F., this paper closure provides water-proof, tamper-proof protection of the pouring lip of our bottle. It keeps it safe from contact with hands or other exposure all the way from dairy to you. And that is important—because every drop of milk in the bottle must pass over that pouring lip.

Junior Red Cross Drive On In Schools

The annual campaign to enroll boys and girls in the Junior Red Cross got under way this week in the city and county schools and will continue through Nov. 15, it was announced today by Mrs William K. Hamor, Junior Red Cross chairman.

Junior Red Cross is the American Red Cross in the schools and its activities interest pupils in the elementary and secondary public and parochial schools. Approximately 20,000,000 boys and girls are enrolled and it is recognized as the largest youth organization in the world. Services this year are built around the theme "You Can Help"

The annual campaign is not a fund-raising drive, Mrs Hamor points out It is organized to enroll young people who will carry on the many services performed by the junior branch of the American Red Cross Membership, she states, teaches a young person the ways and values of community living because they work in groups All children of school ages are eligible to join either in public or parochial schools.

No Membership Fee.

There is no individual membership fee Pupils are entitled to membership when he or she has made a voluntary contribution which has been earned or saved, or through the performance of a service showing interest in the Junior Red Cross.

In the elementary grades each class room is enrolled for a fee of 50 cents and in the high schools units of 100 pupils may join for a membership contribution of one dollar All money contributed over this amount remains in the children's service fund to be used in carrying on their work

After joining the Junior Red Cross members choose their own activities from a nationally approved list of more than 70 projects, such as making afghans, ash trays, memo pads, games, writing portfolios and games for wounded veterans, soft toys, holiday favors for children's homes and other institutions and gift boxes for children overseas

Each school has a teacher-sponsor, its own officers and representatives to the Marion County Junior Red Cross Council Council officers for this year are Marilyn Fields, Harding High, president Sally Runyan, Central Junior High, vice president. Virginia Mason, Vernon, secretary, and Betty Plantz of Edison, treasurer.

Gift Box Project.

Gift boxes for children overseas will be the major project of the juniors this year American children have set a goal of 1,300,000 gift boxes to be sent overseas this Christmas, double the number forwarded last year The boxes, to be filled in the classroom, will contain gifts of pencils, paper, pens, crayons soap, toothbrushes, paste, needles, thread, and in each box there will be a letter form on which recipients of the boxes may write their thanks to the group forwarding the gift. Other panels of the letter form are lined to include the names of children of the group sending the gifts

Stressed also this year is the exchange of correspondence, albums, letters and booklets between states and countries throughout the world. This, the sponsors point out, means a great deal in the post-war world where each gesture of good will is a step toward ultimate peaceful living

The primary purpose of the albums is to foster friendship and through an exchange of information on customs, holidays, history, topography and industries, and past experiences prove that boys and girls of foreign countries are eager to receive them and send similar ones in return

Mrs Hamor, Mrs J H Harmon, Miss Anna Parks and Miss Margaret Topliff attended a meeting of Junior Red Cross workers of the Northwestern district, Friday and Saturday at Lima.

Female Candidates Out To Show Ladies Can Stick Together

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—About 300 feminine candidates for congress and state offices counted on their sisters today to prove that women stick together.

Theoretically, if they did stick together, a majority of the women political hopefuls would sweep into office, for the qualified feminine vote in today's congressional election is 1,171,000 greater than the male.

Fifteen women—11 Democrats and four Republicans—are seeking election to the house of representatives. Another Republican, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith, has already been given her ticket to congress by Maine voters last September

In addition, 11 women are running as minor party candidates.

One of the liveliest tussels between the sexes was the race between the Republican incumbent, Rep. Joseph Martin, and his Democratic rival, Mrs. Martha Sharpe, in Massachusetts.

Described in Democratic campaign literature as "small, dark and beautiful," Mrs. Sharpe would make political history if successful in her joust to unseat the bachelor Republican floor leader.

Among other Democratic women nominees for congress is Mrs. Margaret Afflis of Delphi, Ind., who has campaigned against Rep. Charles A. Halleck, a possible choice for Republican majority leader should the G O.P. win control. Mrs. Frances P. Bolton of Cleveland is seeking reelection on the Ohio Republican ticket.

The women's division of the Republican national committee said 126 Republican women now hold state office and at least that many were courting voters today

The Democratic women's division said there are 160 Democratic women on the various state tickets, with Connecticut in the lead with 36 and New Hampshire next with 26.

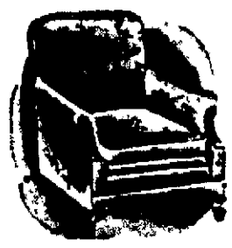
Dependable Furniture for 80 Years



"Buy Me Something for the House—"

Don't be surprised if you hear it in your own home. "Buy me something for the house" is being heard more and more each Christmas season, as the idea of buying USEFUL gifts spreads

When you buy a furniture gift for any one member of the family you do two things—you buy a gift for that member, and you also buy "something for the house," because every member of the family ENJOYS the gift even though only one member may be the POSSESSOR of it

Another thing—no matter how small the amount invested, a gift of furniture is always appreciated It is not tucked away or laid aside a few days or weeks after Christmas—it is used to help make the home of the recipient more beautiful, more comfortable, more livable.

And—don't forget that at Schaffner's you can pay next year, if you wish to do so.

TENNESSEE ELECTION BATTLE SHAPING UP

By The Associated Press

BENTON, Tenn., Nov. 5 — All was peaceful in Polk county for today's general election but a tense atmosphere pervaded this small southeast Tennessee town and the possibilities of a fight over the counting of ballots lurked in the background.

The situation was similar to that in adjoining McMinn county last Aug. 1, when an ex-GI's party seized control after ousting the entrenched political organization in a violent gun battle.

In Polk county the candidates of the 16-year-old political organization of Burch Biggs were opposed by those backed by the Polk County Veterans' Good Government League.

A. R. (Buck) Arp Jr., league secretary, declared there would be trouble but that "no one knows just how ready we are."

One leader of the Good Government League said members of the organization had a large quantity of dynamite stored and were prepared to use it in the event of an election battle.

Ohio Construction Labor Shortage Called Acute

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5—Labor shortages in the home construction industry are acute in many of Ohio's larger cities, a government survey discloses.

Stort Noble, regional housing expediter for the national housing agency, reported yesterday the study made in 48 communities of the Ohio - Michigan-Kentucky-West Virginia area shows 23 with current dearth of bricklayers and carpenters.

Several areas reported current shortages of plumbers, plasterers, electricians and painters. Lack of cement finishers, steamfitters, sheet metal workers, lathers, pipe fitters, stone masons, furnace installers, iron workers, riggers, roofers and block layers also were mentioned.

Russian Concentration On Youth Called Vital

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5—Russia's concentration on her youth is more to be feared than an armament race or the atomic bomb, says Miss Dorothy Gordon, director of the New York Times' Youth Forums.

Here for the national conference of Camp Fire Girls, Inc., Miss Gordon said in an interview that "children in Russia have been educated to what the state is doing," and added:

"We must concentrate just as strongly on our youth that they may face the challenge of the future."

The Camp Fire Girls organization was on record today as backing the charter of the United Nations and planning to implement this policy through its program and activities. Announcement of this position was made by Dr. Bernice Baxter of Piedmont, Calif., organization president.

Given Upper Post

UPPER SANDUSKY—Dr. E. E. Zechiel, former pastor of Evangelical and Reformed church at Louisville, O., assumed his duties as superintendent of the Home for the Aged, Nov. 1. He succeeds Rev. H. C. Kellermeyer, who has been serving both Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church and the home here. Mrs. Zechiel will replace Mrs. Katherine E. Grether who has served as matron for nearly 10 years.

LAVISH GIFTS—William A. Nickel, confessed swindler who cheated the Mergenthaler Linotype Co. of Brooklyn out of $832,000 gave expensive gifts to his wife, above, and set himself up in a $10-a-day love nest in a Manhatton hotel, where he entertained women lavishly and gave bellboys $20 tips, according to police. Mrs. Nickel and her daughter are under protective custody at their Long Island home.

Victim's Mother Sues Accused Murderer

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Nov. 5—William L. Sweet, 44-year-old bingo game operator held on a first degree murder charge, has been sued for $20,000 by the mother of the man he is accused of killing.

The suit was filed yesterday in common pleas court by Mrs. Anna Mae Kuhn, mother of Leo Driscoll, 29, who was shot fatally Oct. 28. Mrs. Kuhn said in her petition that Driscoll had helped support her and her four other children.

The court issued a writ of attachment tying up Sweet's savings and checking accounts and contents of seven safety deposit boxes.

POSTAL EMPLOYE CONFESSES THEFT

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5—A 46-year-old former postoffice clerk has confessed in full, postal inspectors said today, that he stole $40,000 in cash from a mail sack back in 1937.

But, they explained that he cannot be prosecuted for the theft because no indictment was returned within the three-year period specified by the statute of limitations.

However, U. S. treasury officials were interested in the case—because the man failed to pay income tax on the $40,000.

Special Postal Investigator W. S. Palmer, here from Washington, D. C., quoted the man as confessing he slit a registered pouch en route from the Federal Reserve bank to an Oakland bank and "grabbed the first thing I got my hands on."

It was a small canvas bag containing $40,000 in currency. He said he concealed it in his garage.

The man kept on as a postal clerk for two years and then went into business for himself. Eventually he lost every cent of the money, Palmer said. Fearful of being caught, he moved from town to town with his wife and two children.

"He's on the verge of a breakdown," Pamler said. "He hasn't got a bean left."

AT 69, GETS RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
Calls This Famous Cereal "Wonderful Laxative Food"

Feeling down and out because of constipation? Read the words of cheer in this sincere, unsolicited letter:
"I am 69 years old and its two years ago, I never knew what irregularity was. But I was troubled sometimes for nearly two years. Then I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. It is wonderful. Now I wish every man who suffers the way I did would heed my call and try this wonderful laxative food." John T. Brennan, 611 E. Camilla St., Whittier, Calif.
Imagine! You, too, may never have to take another harsh laxative for constipation due to lack of bulk in your diet—if you eat an ounce of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN every day, and drink plenty of water. If after 10 days you are not completely satisfied, send the empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan. You will get double your money back! ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a natural laxative food providing gentle bulk helpful to normal laxation. Eat All-Bran every day as a delicious cereal—or in muffins.
Ask your grocer for ALL-BRAN. Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

REFUGEE SHIPS UNSEAWORTHY

British Say 100 Vessels, Most of Them Unsafe, Plying Mediterranean.

By The Associated Press

HAIFA, Nov. 5—British naval intelligence officers asserted today that at least 100 ships, many paid for with money raised in America, have been purchased by Jewish underground organizations to carry refugee immigrants from Europe to Palestine.

Officers said they had a list of 100 ships, "most of them unseaworthy," which had been bought for the refugee traffic and which now are lying in southern European ports.

Methods for halting the unauthorized immigration of Jewish refugees to Palestine will be discussed this week at Malta at a conference of naval authorities under Admiral Sir Algernon Willis, commander in chief of the British Mediterranean fleet. It is expected that Palestine police will be represented.

Naval intelligence officers said that the main ports in which refugee ships are now lying are Marseille, Genoa, Trieste and Piraeus.

"Some of these ships are death trap caiques and schooners bought from junk yard, but there are a few converted corvettes, sloops and Hungarian river gunboats," the officers added.

One source said the crews and officers of the vessels in many cases were men "who have lost their papers in one way or another and will sail with this type of ship because that's all they can get."

"We've uncovered instances in which they were paid $20 a head when they sail and were promised the same amount more if they could land the passengers successfully on Palestine's shores," this source declared.

One of the greatest fears, he continued, is that "one of these ships, coming criminally overloaded and with grossly improper safety measures will go down at sea and hundreds of lives will be lost. When it does you can bet the British will get the blame for it."

Teen-Age Youths Get Life Imprisonment

By The Associated Press

YUBA CITY, Calif., Nov. 5—Billy Anderson, 16, and Nathern James, 15, convicted last week of slaying of the former's father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson, have been sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin prison.

The Andersons were shot to death Sept. 8 at their Live Oak ranch home as they were preparing for bed.

Under California law the youths must serve at least seven years before they will be eligible to apply for parole.

It is estimated that women in high income groups spend more than seven times as much for clothing as women in very low income groups.

TRUMAN JOINS OTHER AMERICANS AT POLLS

By The Associated Press

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 5—President Truman cast his own vote early today in the nationwide congressional elections which will shape the future course of his administration.

The Chief Executive and his daughter, Margaret, who voted for the first time in the Democratic primary last August, turned in their ballots nearly an hour after Mrs. Truman.

The President and Margaret arrived at the Memorial building, three blocks from their home at 10:05 a. m.

The nation's first family left shortly afterwards for the Independence railroad station to board their special train for Washington leaving at 10:30 a. m.

The President received his ballot from Mrs. Jesse Flowers, Republican judge, after being checked off the voting list by Mrs. James Miller, Democratic checker.

The President then greeted the other precinct officials including his own brother-in-law, George Wallace, Democratic judge.

Like Mrs. Truman, the President voted the straight Democratic ticket, which included Senator Briggs (D-Mo.), his own successor in the senate, seeking re-election, and representative Jasper Bell, Fourth district congressman.

The President has remained determinedly on the sidelines during the campaign and he retired to his Missouri home last night without even issuing a statement.

There have been no official explanations of Mr. Truman's course of silence.

His absence from a Democratic rally here Friday night was attributed by Mayor Roger T. Sermon of Independence to a desire to "uphold the dignity of his high office."

In the Missouri race, Briggs has been the target of a determined Republican campaign in behalf of James H. Kem, Kansas City lawyer.

Enos T. Axtell, Democratic nominee for congress from the Fifth district, also has had spirited opposition. His Republican opponent is Albert L. Reeves Jr., son of a federal district judge.

Axtell beat Representative Roger Slaughter in the August Democratic primary after Mr. Truman called personally for Slaughter's defeat.

The President paid a last visit with his mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, at Grandview yesterday afternoon. Despite her age of 93, she says she is going to the polls to vote "the straight Democratic ticket."

U. S. "DISAPPOINTED" WITH DENAZIFICATION

By The Associated Press

STUTTGART, Germany, Nov. 5 — Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay told the German council of state today that the American military government was "thoroughly disappointed" with the German performance in handling denazification.

Unless the Gemans improve quickly, he said, the military government will take over the job itself.

The deputy military governor of the American occupation zone announced an immediate order that no German who had been removed from office by the military government might be returned to office without military government approval, even though tried and cleared of Nazism by German denazification courts.

It was the sharpest criticism yet made of the provisional German government by military government officials, who last spring turned over to the Germans the responsibility for clearing their own ranks of Nazism in the American zone.

German officials from the three states in the American zone listened in glum silence to the sharp reproof.

Although Clay said yesterday in Berlin he was particularly dissatisfied with denazification in Bavaria, he did not single out any particular state in today's speech, making it applicable to the entire American zone.

The Great Game of Politics

WHEN the United States exercises its influence abroad in behalf of a war-torn nation, it invariably demands a free election. One may wonder sometimes if its own citizens understand why.

An election is civilization's substitute for violence. It is the only way ever discovered to take advantage of the constructive element in human nature which causes men to desire change. When that element is thwarted, it either is transformed into the impulse to destroy or, if thwarted completely, into an attitude of apathy.

The great game of politics as played in America—and heartily detested by those who would prefer to settle their differences of opinion with violence—comes to a climax of intensity each November. Thereafter it is neglected until the next September, when a fresh campaign starts. Every second year, it reaches an extraordinary climax in a congressional election, and every fourth year a grand climax in a presidential election. Except for the professionals, who never quit playing, the citizenry likes the arrangement, which has been working well for more than a century and a-half and, with a little luck, is good for another century and a-half, provided Americans remember one thing.

That one thing is the importance of alternatives in the American game of politics. As long as the conduct of public affairs can be saved from the course of absolute monopoly, politics in the United States will continue to be played like a game. If the time ever comes when opposition is not tolerated, politics will cease to be a game and become what it inevitably is in all countries dominated by political monopolists—a civil war between oppressors and oppressed.

Contempt of Public Judgment

A NEW attack of creeping paralysis in the coal industry has been started by the personal decision of John L. Lewis, czar of United Mine Workers.

It will hasten a public finding of contempt against union leadership which wilfully defies public judgment. The people are fed up with these demonstrations of personal power by union bosses.

These men have gained extreme power over the national economy. But like all other trustees of power, they are responsible for its use. They are no different from financiers, politicians, or any of the other groups which have abused power at public expense.

There is more involved in union leadership in these times than ability to force wage scales higher and thereby to keep the good will of a following. There are such complex problems involved as how to maintain the purchasing power of dollars, preserve the source of wage income and maintain wage earners' vested interest in their employment. Union leadership, if it wants to be worthy of its power, must be union statesmanship, too. It must accept responsibility for national well-being and national security. These are the prices of power. They cannot be disregarded without creating the necessity for reform.

As czar of the United Mine Workers, Mr. Lewis can paralyze production of coal whenever he feels like it. He feels like it too often. Other labor leaders in other industries have been feeling like it too often. Their public-be-damned attitude has been building up public resentment which ultimately is certain to explode in their faces, if they lack the sense to avert a reaction which would destroy not only them but their unions.

The leaders of unions are responsible to more than themselves. They are responsible to their unions, and their unions are responsible to the public without whose sufferance and good will they could not exist. They have been asking for the judgment now beginning to be delivered on them and whose delivery assuredly will be hastened by the whimsical decision of one man to interfere with production of coal at the beginning of winter.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Truman's Actions, Not Words, Have Political Intent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 — As President Truman left here, he deliberately avoided political words but not political actions. While he was silent, his administration announced OPA would close up shop today on the eve of election; Lewis would get his mine pay retroactively, and witnessed a break in the price of steak—all well contrived political events to make up for past damage. But the reporters with him considered it peculiar he did not make a radio appeal to the nation to elect a Democratic congress and his office said he would not issue the usual advice to get out the vote.

The fact is his advisers expected bad news from the electorate today and did not wish him to become involved in it more than necessary. Politicos generally considered his deliberate personal aloofness to have been wisely planned.

About the time OPA controls were broken, a few weeks before election, certain stories came into print that Mr. Truman would not run again, meaning two years hence. The same stories suggested the President would devote himself after election to being a fair-minded, middle-road President in accordance with the expected popular mandate.

No Source Given

These stories did not reveal any source and merely made a flat statement without attributing it to anyone. Confidentially, however, they came from a Democratic congressional leader who had just had a conference with Mr. Truman. They were apparently authentic. Yet, as a matter of fact, the same type stories were circulated even more strongly about the late Franklin Roosevelt at this stage of his race for the third term, and again before the fourth term campaign. No one could possibly guess what will happen in the next two years. Hence, the stories were largely avoided.

The prime point of the national Democratic campaign near the end was that if a Republican congress is chosen, it will lead to a stalemate. This interpretation was circulated as far off as London where the idea appeared in the Times as an assured comment on the American election. This is an easily accepted interpretation, but not necessarily in accord with the acknowledged condition or with future possibilities.

The Republicans tried to answer it by having House Minority Leader Martin issue a promise of a program. Martin, in a speech at Providence, talked of eliminating waste and bureaucracy, repeal of wartime powers, restoring harmony between labor and management, recovery of billions of war expenditures in waste and graft, a balanced budget and veterans housing—yet Martin did not become too specific about anything. The Republicans suspected the Democrats had them in a minor hole on this program matter, but well knew that if they laid down a specific plan of post-election action they would be in the predicament of having been smoked out in advance by the Democrats—needlessly.

Two-Year Stalemate

The inescapable truth is the congress has been more stalemated the past two years than it might from a Republican victory. Mr. Truman lost to congress on nearly all important issues—witness OPA as the last one. He threatened, wire-pulled and vetoed, but he had to do more than congress had demanded with OPA on the eve of election. He succeeded only in stalemating any action on corrective labor legislation. The coalition of Democrats and Republicans rather effectively stalemated him, and this condition may continue even if the Democratic vote runs to the fondest hope of its most rabid imagination Tuesday.

Thus the Democratic campaign, the London Times, et al, may turn out to have indulged in very bad prophesy. The national economic situation is critical. It calls for steps toward unity. It demands action in the opposite direction from further stalemating.

In view of this overwhelming necessity, it is quite possible the President may move to bring the Republicans into some agreement on a program in case they sweep congress from his grasp. If the Republicans do not agree, they will at least be compelled to adopt legislation which will be acceptable to the White House on such matters as taxes, inflation, price-wages, etc. In short, I anticipate a coming era of cooperation in results, if not in public announcements, even if belligerently or reluctantly.

A common ground for action will have to be found.

Carry Charges Are Back from the War

Wartime controls on charge accounts and installment buying are shortly to be lifted.

The act is being taken, say Washington sources, as a gesture to congress. One would have thought, in view of their recent pay increase, the solons would be able to pay cash.

Of the many signs along the road back to normalcy, none strikes a more familiar note than "Just Bring An Honest Face."

Still, of all the wartime casualties, perhaps none was less widely mourned than that tenacious character, the man from the finance company.

Americans earned the plaudits of the world by their conduct in the war. And, even in peace, you've got to give them credit.

In time now, our industrial potentials being what they are, we may even see a return of that prewar phenomenon—the dollar down and eyetooth-a-week automobile.

Bungling The Pacific Situation

By WALTER LIPPMANN

SINCE Mr. Truman did not feel called upon to speak out about the issues in the election, it is very difficult to understand why he chose the eve of the election to speak about the Pacific islands. Or if he had to speak, why, on so delicate and difficult a matter, touching the good name and the vital interests of the country, he had to be so crude and so casual.

For the effect of his words is to put the American claims in the worst possible light, to give a skeptical and cynical world the occasion for saying that we have a double standard of morals: the Atlantic Charter and the United Nations Charter where the vital interests of our allies are at stake, and a naked unilateralism where our own vital interests are at stake.

The exasperating thing about this way of conducting our affairs is that the dilemma has been created not by a real conflict between the American interest and the spirit of the United Nations but by a failure in Washington to think clearly and to think straight.

Example of Confusion

We have here a glaring example of the mischief and confusion that must result from dealing in bits and pieces with the settlement of a great war. The Allies have not yet begun to talk about a peace treaty with Japan. Yet in law Okinawa and Iwo Jima, which we occupy, and the Kuriles and northern Sakhalin, which the Soviet Union occupies, are still Japanese.

The title to the mandated islands, which we occupy, is either in the United Nations as successor to the League, or perhaps—no one seems to know exactly—in the Allied and associated powers of the last war.

No one has asked us to evacuate the islands we occupy, and the question as to how they are to be governed de jure and permanently cannot be separated, and should never be separated, from the general settlement of the Far Eastern war. Moreover, we cannot measure correctly our own strategical interest in these islands until we know what the Allies can agree to about Japan, about Korea, about the Kuriles and about China, including Manchuria.

To single out our own special claims and invite a debate about them alone is most unstatesmanlike; it causes us to ask more than we may in the end and as part of a general settlement feel we need, and it causes the other powers to put the heaviest kind of discount upon whatever we may wish to say about their claims in regions which to them are strategically important.

Unless the Far East is treated as one strategical field, a settlement at a few points in the Pacific makes no sense. The mandated islands—the Marianas, the Carolines and the Marshalls—are not only outposts for the defense of Hawaii and our west coast; they are stepping stones and staging areas to the Philippines, to the East Indies and Southeast Asia, to the coast of China, and to Japan.

The Kuriles are outposts for the defense of eastern Siberia but they are also positions from which the shortest passage to Japan and China can be interfered with, and Alaska rendered insecure.

Important Points

Okinawa and Iwo Jima are points from which Japan, Korea, Siberia, Manchuria and North China can be dominated by air, and the exits and entrances to the vital East China Sea controlled by sea power. But their strategical importance and their permanent place in the scheme of things depends upon what is settled about Japan and Korea and China by the Russians, the Chinese, the British and ourselves.

Since we have not begun to talk about any of these problems—having been so preoccupied with Trieste and Bulgarian elections and the like—the time has not come to talk about Okinawa and Iowa Jima. We occupy them, which is sufficient for the time being, and until we make up our minds to begin negotiating a Far Eastern settlement, we need not and should not talk about them.

The system under which our foreign relations are being conducted does not permit us to have a considered general policy, and invites just what we are getting: bits and pieces of policy decided upon separately and by separate parts of the government.

The Constitution vests in the President the dual and inseparable duties of commander in chief and final authority in the making of foreign policy. Mr. Truman is unable to perform these duties and yet—at unpredictable moments under pressure or personal whim—he intervenes casually in some difficult question, like atomic energy, Palestine, or the Pacific islands.

The general conduct of foreign affairs falls, therefore, by default into the hands of Secretary Byrnes. Yet he has organized himself so that he cannot conduct them. Instead of presiding over the formation of American policy, since no one else does, he has appointed himself the negotiator in a series of isolated and narrow European disputes.

Portrait of Dewey

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—The most interesting personality involved in our great, biennial, electoral orgy is undoubtedly Thomas Edmund Dewey, the Michigan choir boy who became governor of a state larger than most nations. It is time for a new report on this complex and puzzling figure, who has come to represent the forces of modernity, if not progressivism, within the ancient precincts of the Republican party.

The first thing that strikes any observer who sees Tom Dewey again after a long lapse of time is the change for the better in Dewey as a man. It has been wickedly said that when he entered politics he gave off all the human warmth of a porcelain plumbing fixture, whereas today he has achieved the status of an electric toaster. There is some truth, as well as a good deal of malice, in this domestically flavored comparison.

Since Dewey began his meteoric career, he has suffered three major disappointments—when he was defeated for the governorship in 1938, failed to get the Republican presidential nomination in 1940, and failed of election to the presidency in 1944. He has learned from his defeats, among other things, to be less cocksure of himself than he was as the giant-killing young district attorney. He has learned also from the wealth of experience of man and politics which he has had in Albany. He is today what he was not when he first became a national figure, an entirely mature man and political leader.

Can Be Overdone

It cannot be said, to be sure, that he has become precisely genial. But Elks-bar good fellowship is a political asset which may well be somewhat at a discount in this country after the Truman administration. And Dewey has at least been humanized to the point where he should no longer arouse the more touchy leaders of the Republican organizations to the spasms of rage that brought so many of them close to apoplexy in 1944. This is important, since the customary coyness veiling the Dewey aspirations for 1948 is mercifully no more than a decent gesture towards the political conventions. One can say that he is too good mannered to announce his presidential candidacy, but much too sensible to protest really vociferously if it is mentioned.

There are other ways, too, in which Dewey has gained stature in the last eight years. It is something for a politician to suffer three major reverses, each one enough to end the career of an ordinary man, without permitting them to halt his ownward career for a moment or even to derange a hair of his mustache. It is a great deal more to have been a genuinely good governor of New York. The habit is, of course, to say that any governor who serves reasonably honestly in prosperous times is a pretty good governor. From all reports, John Bricker belongs in this category of the governors who manage to avoid the grosser errors. But although the not quite human quality of Dewey's efficiency encourages even his friends to malice, everyone who is not wildly partisan admits that he has done an outstanding job at Albany. Most New Yorkers seem to be honestly enthusiastic about it.

Strong On Competence

Competence is, in truth, the most striking of Dewey's characteristics. His headquarters are a wonder to behold. Political headquarters customarily present a scene of squalid chaos, halfway between the tag-end of a bibulous barbecue and a woman's club Walpurgis-night. At the Dewey headquarters, on the contrary, all is calm and all is efficiency.

His staff, composed of such younger men as Elliot Bell, Paul Lockwood and James Hagerty Jr., is an exceedingly able aggregation. They are also intensely businesslike; indeed the only trifling note of eccentricity is struck by the presence of an intelligent young philologist who is writing a Ph. D. thesis on the rhetoric of the 1944 presidential campaign. The staff and Dewey himself make all go smoothly. The deputations come and go in droves. Speeches are written. Photographs are taken. Callers are interviewed. Everything that has to be done is done very admirably, but without an instant of the usual turmoil.

One more quality, present in Dewey and his staff in marked degree, makes him an inherently important man in these days of Republican properity. Although he is very different from Harold Stassen, he shares with Stassen the distinction of being thoroughly modern-minded. He calls himself a liberal, as the fashion is. He is, of course, a moderate conservative. But while conservative, he is entirely aware of the vast social forces, the tremendous political tides, which are surging through this country and the world. He may be a bit on the chilly side even now. He has enemies, even among New York Republicans, who call him ambitious and not overscrupulous where his ambitions are concerned. But one cannot deny that extreme competence and thorough modernity are important qualities in present day American politics, and especially in the present day Republican party.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Unfinished Letters for Special Delivery

TO David E. Lilienthal, Dr. Robert F. Bacher, Sumner T. Pike, Lewis L. Strauss and William W. Waymack,

Members of the Newly Appointed Atomic Energy Commission;

Gentlemen:

Boys, am I sorry for you! Am I sympathetic toward you in your new positions as members of President Truman's new commission! Just think of it...you will be the only four men in the United States, if not in the whole world, who from now on will have to know what you are talking about in all parties where the atomic bomb is discussed!

• • •

On second thought, your plight is even worse. You are the only four men who, whenever anybody starts gabbing about atomic energy, will have to keep your traps shut. In accepting jobs on the commission you are pledged to complete secrecy. You mustn't even discuss atomic energy with your own family! When the wife remarks at breakfast, "Don't you think it's just awful about those Russians and the atomic bomb?" it is up to you to change the subject without making her sore!

• • •

You are to be four men apart from all other men. If there is one topic everybody is expected to discuss at any gathering on the slightest provocation it is the split atom, fission, chain reaction, etc. Nobody has to know anything about them to discuss them fully. Nobody except you. What a spot! In complete possession of all the facts and mum's the word at night club party, weekend outing, businessmen's lunch, gin rummy game or casual conversation on a bus! To know what you are talking about and yet barred from talking! That is a position which millions of your fellow Americans can appreciate.

• • •

Even the fact that there are four men who from now on will really have to understand atomic energy and the entire problem and know their facts is enough to stagger all other men. To sound off for hours on atomic energy without knowing an atom from a bale of hay has been regarded as a privilege by every man, woman and child in the country.

• • •

How I envy you! Just to be pointed out by people with the remark "There goes one of those fellers who knows all there is to know about the atomic bomb AND HE WON'T TALK!!!"

• • •

Dave Lilienthal, you will need all your strength. Dr. Bacher, being a Cornell man, you will have to be extra careful at those Cornell football dinners. Sumner Pike, it is quite a switch from the S.E.C. to atom bombs. Guard against being inveigled into loose talk by some nonchalant, "I see atomic energy fives of 46 are up an eighth." Bill Waymack, as a newspaper editor you will have to be extra strong lest some merchant come right out with a firm, "I'm going to give my advertising to some newspaper that ain't so darned secretive on atoms!"

• • •

Well, good luck to you, anyhow, and here's hoping you will find something else that people talk about these days.

ELMER.

Maybe you can't make the ball nine with that equipment either, my boy.

CAN YOU REMEMBER—

Away back when any politician dared to promise the full dinner a pail?

Window cleaners in New York have won a $4 a week raise, nine holidays a year off and pay on rainy or snowy days. The matter of washing only the windows on the sunny side of the building was put aside for the time being.

Controls are now off liquor. A man can now get inflation and a hangover in one operation.

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: I have been reading a lot lately about how a few people in this country want to convert it to capital C communism and are pushing around millions of us Americans. This worries me.

The reason it worries me isn't because of communism. I can't imagine any Communist I ever heard of being able to get on base in a country which still has a good fast ball. What I can imagine—and the thing that worries me—is that the excitement may make the pitcher blow up and lose control.

The only real danger of communism in the United States is the possibility these fellows can make us lick ourselves, the way the Germans did. The Germans grabbed themselves a cleaver to perform a delicate operation, and what happened is now a sordid chapter in the history of civilization. At my age I don't need to be much concerned any more with what is going to happen in the next generation, but I shudder at the thought of night-riders and mobs going berserk in this country.

In other words, nephew, the only way we can take care of this problem is to keep cool. We have with us now, and always, a large minority of people who aren't housebroken, and all they need to get them riled is what looks like a reasonable excuse and a few loud mouths to stir them up. If they ever happen to get started, there'd be no stopping them until they ran out of breath, and then it would be too late.

My idea of the way to handle these babies is to fall back on a knack we have exercised before—something that comes close to being a unique American skill. That is to turn the merciless light of publicity on this minority that wants to take over control of the United States—and keep it there. That was the way we cooled off the Klan. I was the way we pulled the string on the Bund. It is the way we've handled our native-grown ideological disputes, and it works.

Keep 'em humping. Give them the squirms. Call the business on them at every turn. Keep track of every mother's son and put him on the defensive. Communism can't make any headway against something in working order, so we must keep what we have in A-1 repair. If we do this, there's nothing to be excited about. The one thing those babies haven't been able to do is stay clear of their own rope. They eventually end up by hanging themselves in it, the way they've been doing in Europe. And above all, let's call things by their right names. Russia isn't communism. Communism may point to Russia as its window display, but if we built a wall around Russia and quarantined it, that wouldn't mean we'd built a wall around communism. It's here, there and everywhere, like the common cold. The only way to keep it from making headway is to play on the safe side by keeping ourselves in shape to lick it wherever we find it. I don't see anything to worry about if we do that, but if we don't—there's plenty to worry about. We've got to keep this affair out of the hands of our own mobsters, or they'll turn out to be worse than communism.

Regards to the family.

CLUB HEARS TALK ON LABOR, MANAGEMENT

Mutual Understanding Urged by Business Executive.

"Where Do We Go From Here?" was the subject of a talk given by Bryson V. Burns, president of National Business Services Inc., a management engineering firm of Dayton, O., in the Lions club weekly luncheon meeting Monday at Hotel Harding. Having had extensive experience in industrial management work, especially in the field of labor-management relations and labor management cooperation, Mr. Burns stressed the need for better human relations as a means of improving our present day labor problems.

In discussing labor relations in modern business, Mr. Burns explained that better labor relations can produce increased earning power, and stated that there is a vital need for sound labor relations as a factor in progressive management. He declared that one of the fundamental facts governing the handling of human problems is that management must possess a sense of fair play and understanding of the other fellow's problems and ambitions, and that management must develop a worker's viewpoint on policies and actions that will affect him.

Mr. Burns explained that a "must" from a labor relations point-of-view is a formal statement of policy, and that wages is the greatest single source of employe unrest and dissatisfaction. He stated that one of management's biggest problems is recruiting and training capable supervisors. They must not only know their jobs and responsibilities, but must be trained to understand the importance of adequate instruction, and of displaying the proper leadership toward maintaining a department which functions smoothly.

Mr. Burns emphasized that management must, through personal effort and understanding, show the people that wages are related to production and only through production can prices be controlled and real purchasing power maintained.

The music committee of the club was recognized, and the members reported on their activities. They are Joseph Schlosser, Carl Barchfeld, Robert Haldeman and John Lacey. An announcement was made of a board meeting to be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at Hotel Harding.

Guests were James Harmon, William Selanders, Don Cuthbert, Jack Duer, Edward Halsey and Joe Siegert, all of Marion.

PENNSYLVANIA POLLS TO SEE HEAVY DUTY

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5 — Pennsylvania's polls were thrown open today to its 4,600,000 voters —with a heavy vote expected—to determine the commonwealth's representation in congress for the next two years and control of the state government for four years.

Leaders of both parties agreed the ballots at the first general election since end of the war would draw a heavy turnout of voters to the state's 9,230 polling places.

Pennsylvania's big bloc of 33 votes, second largest in the country, attracted national attention to the Keystone state — normally Republican down through the years, but which turned in majorities for the late President Roosevelt three times in 1936, 1940 and 1944.

"Pennsylvania is a crucial state in the battle for control of congress," said U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, Democrat, during his campaign for a third term.

Guffey was opposed by Republican Governor Edward Martin, a retired major general, who sharply criticized the national administration and called for election of a G.O.P. congress to remove the wartime "shackles of restriction."

Sharing interest with the heated fight for the senatorship was a slam-bang contest for governor with John S. Rice, Democrat, challenging Republican rule of the state government broken only once in recent history in 1935-38 when George H. Earle served as the first Democratic executive in a half century.

To oppose Rice, Republicans picked James H. Duff, attorney general in Governor Martin's cabinet, who promised to continue policies of the retiring executive.

Boyle Finds Travel Better With Shoes Off

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—It might be that the best way to enjoy travel abroad is with your shoes off.

"Museum feet" become a holiday disease with the average vacationist because he falls victim to foreign guides why try to inflict ten centuries of culture on him in ten days.

Hal Boyle

Elmer J. Tourist goes overseas with the wistful hope of having a good time. Instead he gets caught in a travel mill that makes his trip a day and nightmare marathon of climbing monuments walking through endless art galleries and moping mouselike among moldy churches.

Why does he do it? Because he's afraid somebody will think him a lowbrow—which he really knows he is anyway.

So Elmer becomes an unhappy prisoner in a small flock of fellow Americans cheeping and chirping as their despotic guide shepherds them from one pigeon target to another. All he learns is what he reads in his guidebook: "St. Paul's church is a dignified edifice in renaissance style and has an area of 59,700 square feet," it says here in small print.

Nuts to that! Be your own Marco Polo.

Make a rule never to visit more than one church, one monument and one art gallery in any one country. These places are just cultural cemeteries with long staircases largely frequented by people who don't know what to do with themselves.

More Fun Reading

In most cases you can have more fun reading about them in your guidebook while lying in bed in your hotel room in your stocking feet. A cognac will help you through the dull descriptions.

Then, when you've finished reading how the people used to live, you can rise fresh and rested and set about seeing how they live now. And that will teach you more than a hundred guided lectures.

You want to be where things are happening. If Pierre, the guide, tries to steer you to Napoleon's tomb — play hookey and take a walk along the Left Bank. Napoleon's tomb is France in mothballs. The Left Bank is France in ferment.

The Eiffel Tower, which looks like the Washington monument with its clothes off, is worth a gander. But so is a French department store.

The best way to see a strange city is to hop a bus and ride around till you see a neighborhood that interests you and then bail out and give it the once-over up close.

Eating, Drinking Tips

As to eating and drinking:

If you can recognize a dish on the menu, order something else.

If the diner at the next table speaks your own language, go to another restaurant.

If they serve you steak in a small low-priced restaurant, don't whinny. The meat may neigh back at you.

Don't drink many "French 75's" —champaign with a cognac kicker—unless at home you enjoy mixing gin and buttermilk or bourbon and hairtonic.

You'll be sorry if you don't go to at least one nightclub and stir up your stomach with a $17.50 bottle of green champagne. It's fun to be a sucker—once.

As for company, you are likely to find plenty in the bistros of Europe. In Paris, if a lady plays "drop the handkerchief" with you, don't address her as "cheri" for at least twenty minutes.

The French girls like their men subtle.

Social Affairs

MEMBERS of the Advance club were hostesses at a patroness and guest party yesterday afternoon at Hotel Harding. Miss Ila Grindell of Westerville was a guest speaker and music for the program included a group of vocal numbers by Miss Mary Ellen Matson, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. John F. Lacey. Miss Grindell, who is post-war planning chairman of the Central district, Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, talked on International Relations. In discussing her topic she expressed the belief that the only hope of maintaining an even keel in the world is to back the United Nations organization and make it a success. "The atomic bomb makes this essential," she stated.

During a social hour tea was served with Mrs. M. G. Moses, president of the club, and Mrs. Clarence W. Weber, president of Central district, presiding at the tea table.

Newspaper PM Changes Policy on Advertising

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—The newspaper PM announced Monday it would begin accepting paid advertising, a move followed by the resignation of its editor, Ralph Ingersol, because of the switch in policy after six years.

Marshall Field, president and publisher, in announcing the change, said that John E. Lewis, now managing editor, would succeed Ingersoll, who said in his letter of resignation:

"'No advertising in PM' is woven into the fabric of my conception of the paper and my conviction remains unshaken that there should be at least one mass newspaper in this country supported solely by its readers."

Field did not announce the date when advertising would be started.

Indian Leaders Join Hands For National Unity

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

India is making imperishable history these days in her search for ways of implementing the independence which Britain has offered her, but one of the striking developments is the spectacle of Hindu and Moslem leaders joining hands to plead with their peoples for cessation of the bloody communal disorders which have been sweeping Bengal and other parts of the country.

DewittMackenzie

It would be hard to find enemies more bitter than the rank and file of the Moslems and the Hindus, who have been at each others throats for centuries. Through long generations the feud was religious and racial, and when political consciousness arrived the great political parties unfortunately divided on those lines. Thus today the essence of the so-called political disorder is religious and racial — these two things being mainly synonymous in this case.

Tradition has had it that the Hindus and the Moslems never could be brought together. I first encountered this back in 1918 in India, and found the same belief still prevailing during a visit in 1942-43. Indeed so fierce was the hatred between the two religious groups that it took a lot of faith in human nature to challenge that tradition.

The British offer of dominion status in 1942 crashed on the rocks of the Hindu-Moslem controversy. And when early this year the new Socialist government of England offered India independence, the project long was held up by the feud. The stalemate was broken only when the British resorted to the daringly arbitrary idea of establishing a provisional government and inviting both sides to come and run it.

Make Joint Appeal

Now we find the Hindu and Moslem leaders journeying together from New Delhi to Calcutta to make a joint appeal to communal rioters to cease their strife, which has cost more than 5,000 lives and injured some 13,320 in various parts of the country since July 1. The two Hindu leaders are none other than the famous Pandit Nehru, head of the new povisional government and former president of the All India Congress (which is predominantly Hindu), and Sardar Patel, another congress chief. The others are Liaquat Ali Kahn, secretary of the Moslem League, and Sardar Abdur Rab Nichtar, also a league official.

One swallow doesn't make a summer, and one incident of this sort doesn't solve India's problem—but it is an encouraging demonstration of at least temporary solidarity. It should be enough to convince even the most skeptical that the Hindus and Moslems can work together. As a matter of fact I've seen them even living together in perfect harmony.

Fighting by Primitives

In order to get a full understanding of the position, one must know that much of the communal rioting is carried out by wholly ignorant and backward people who might properly be characterized as primitives. Nehru himself was the victim recently of real savagery when he was up in the Khyber Pass on the northwest frontier. Three Moslem tribesmen attacked the party of the Hindu leader and things looked very nasty for a time.

That incident could be put down to "communal strife" but the fact is that these tribesmen literally are savages, whose main business in life is robbery and killing. They are a tough lot, as I well know, having ridden with British troops when they rounded up 600 of these fellows back in 1916.

So it's a mistake to try to gauge the temper of modern India by such demonstrations, because they belong to the dark past.

MARION RADIO FIRM GIVEN FM PERMIT

Not for Immediate Use, Company Head Says.

The Marion Broadcasting Co. is among others in Ohio authorized to operate frequency modulation radio stations by the federal communications commission, the Associated Press reported yesterday from Washington.

Stations in Cincinnati, Canton and Youngstown also received authorization, according to the dispatch. Robert T. Mason, president of the Marion Broadcasting Co., said today he has not yet received official notification from the commission.

He said no immediate changeover here is contemplated. There are as yet few FM receiving sets in this area, he said, and the necessity of obtaining CPA approval for any construction, coupled with difficulty in obtaining equipment, made it unlikely that WMRN would do any FM broadcasting for possibly a year. The present type of amplitude modulation broadcasting will be continued when FM equipment is installed, Mr. Mason said. The new type broadcasting will require a new antenna and other equipment.

Frequency modulation broadcasting is a new development making possible static-free reception and higher tone fidelity. It will increase the range of a station, Mr. Mason said, in that area which now are reached only during the day, will, with FM broadcasting, be reached also during the night. Programing will be adjusted accordingly, he said. Music will also probably be stressed in FM programing.

"Life With Father" Family Is Real, in America 300 Years

The Day family, whose trials and tribulations are so humorously pictured in the comedy, "Life With Father," coming to the Palace theater tomorrow night, is a real one with descendants still serving as worthy citizens and with its origin traceable to one of the founders of New Haven, Conn., more than 300 years ago. On the stage the "family" ties are carried on by Brandon Peters, seen in the role of "father" and his wife, who portrays Vinnie Day, the gracious and delightful mother, under the professional name of Alice Thompson.

The first member of the family to be called an American was Robert Day, who arrived in Boston from England in 1634 and moved on to help establish the Connecticut city. One of his descendants, Major Benjamin Day Jr., journeyed southwest to settle in the wilderness around what is now Natchez, Miss. as early as the time of the American Revolution. It was the major's grandson, Benjamin Henry Day, founder of the New York Sun, who was first known to have red hair, a family characteristic that is featured in "Life With Father." His marriage to another redhead produced in turn a batch of 13 firey-thatched offspring.

In Leading Roles

Brandon Peters' stage experience provides a valuable background for his role of "father" in the hilarious comedy. His first roles were in Shakespearan plays and later he portrayed characters in the modern drama.

For Miss Thompson—in private life Mrs. Peters—many of her happiest memories are of her USO tour in the comedy, "Junior Miss." This particular tour covered places that are now historic to Americans, Pearl Harbor, Guam, Saipan and Iwo Jima. The conditions under which she traveled and lived could not be further removed from the comparative luxurious and sheltered life in the New York mansion which forms the setting for "Life With Father."

Others in Cast

Two generations of theatrical forebearers have left their imprint on Tom Hughes Sand, who portrays the role of the eldest Day boy, "Clarence Jr." His grandfather was a Shakespearan actor of considerable repute in England, and his father and mother constituted the dance team of Margo and Beth which toured widely throughout the western hemisphere.

Lee Sanders, who is "Cousin Cora," in the play, comes from Norfolk, Va. Most of her life has been centered around her birthplace. She was graduated from William and Mary college in nearby Williamsburg and for some years taught school in Norfolk. Like others in the company she has appeared in one of Clare Tree Major's children's plays, "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp."

Mary Skinner, the young visitor who captures the eldest boy's heart in the comedy, realized a childhood ambition when she reached the stage. The role is portrayed by Frances Helm, who was trained for a vocal career. In college, little theater and camp shows she earned her earliest acting experience and remembers her favorite roles in those days as Jean in "Stage Door," "Louisa" in "Ladies in Retirement" and "Celia" in "As You Like It."

Roberta Bellinger, who portrays Margaret, the long suffering cook in the Day family, played with Otis Skinner in "Mr. Antohio" and in recent years in the historic musical revue, "Americana."

Attended Ohio College

Helen F. Evans, now making her second tour with the play, will be seen as one of the maids, "Delia," and in addition will be busy functioning backstage as the stage manager. She was graduated from Denison university at Granville, O., and followed this with further studies at Yale Drama School and New York's New School for Social Research.

"Annie," another of the many frightened maids in the Day family, will be played by Eleanor de Vito. She inherited her taste for the drama from no less a person than her great-aunt, Eleonorn Duse, considered by many to be the greatest actress who ever lived.

Ruth Sitarr, who will be seen in the role of "Maggie," the last of the maids to suffer Father Day's wrath, was a "cover girl" before the stage claimed her interest. A native of Pittsburgh, she attended St. Catherine's academy in New York and it was in the latter city that she took her initial fling before the footlights and their fascination has never deserted her.

In the 700 roles he has impersonated in his long and eventful life, Henry Craig Neslo has found himself on a least 20 occasions portraying a minister. It is in this role that he will be seen as the Rev. Dr. Lloyd, Father Day's minister, and as such will be seen in many an entertaining argument.

Neville Westman, the remaining member of the cast, left the stage for marriage and a home in Maryland, but returned when the urge to put on greasepaint became too great. Although a newcomer with the company, she is quite familiar with the play, having often visited her sister, Nydia, backstage when the latter played the part of Mrs. Day in New York and for two seasons on tour.

Investigations have shown that freezing and cold storage of foods destroy bacteria but do not sterilize.

HE MINES DIAMONDS. Step up girls and meet Dr. John Thorburn Williamson. A bachelor and Quebec-born graduate of McGill university, described as quiet and scholarly, Williamson will be the richest man in the world if current tests confirm the promise of a diamond mine he discovered in the remote Shinyanga region of Tanganyika, South Africa, and opened in 1941. He recently refused an offer of several million pounds sterling for the property that today is turning out the bulk of the town's $4,000,000 annual yield of export diamonds.

NIGHT CLUB BRAWL PENALTIES REVOKED

By The Associated Press

MT. VERNON, O., Nov. 5—The battle of Sunset Club, which cost the Kenyon college football team four players, ended officially yesterday when Justice of the Peace Albert L. Swank sentenced two youths to 30 days in jail and fined them $200 each, then suspended the penalties, and dismissed charges against four other students.

Today's hearings, in which all six faced charges of resisting and obstructing an officer, grew out of a disturbance early Oct. 24 in the Sunset night club near here.

The two players penalized, Richard Paisley and Burt Fulton, both 21 and residents of Lakewood, did not contest the charges.

Prosecutor W. Thurman Todd recommended suspension of the fines and sentences and also asked for dismissal of charges against the others. William Funke and David B. Pauly of Cincinnati, Paul Newman of Shaker Heights, and David M. Dana of Kewaunee, Wis. Dana is 20, the others 21.

Funke and Dana were the other two dismissed from Kenyon's squad.

"These four were part of the resistance only as they were a part of the crowd," Todd said. He declared their cases could be better handled by the college than by county authorities. All six are on social probation at the college, located at nearby Gambier.

Deputy Paul Cochran described the disturbance for today's hearing, saying he and Deputy Donald Vernon attempted to arrest Fulton after the club manager, John Hergatt, complained of a fight. Fulton defied them from the middle of the dance floor, Cochran said, and the others knocked the deputies to the floor when they tried to seize him.

Marriages Run 23 Ahead of Divorces

Marriages were 23 higher than divorces in Marion county during October, according to records from the clerk of courts office and the probate court.

Marriage licenses for last month totaled 52, probate court records show, five under the number issued in September.

Divorces granted in common pleas court last month totaled 29. In 20 of the actions, divorces were granted to the wife and in nine actions to the husband. In 12 of the divorces granted, custody of the minor children was granted to the mother. Twenty-one children were involved. In four cases women were restored to their maiden names.

Clerk of courts records show nine divorce cases dismissed in October and 42 new divorce actions filed.

YOUR HEALTH

By MORRIS FISHBEIN, M.D.

Mouth Cancer

The symptoms of early cancer of the mouth are seldom distressing or markedly painful. That is a fact of the utmost importance and should be remembered by everyone.

Let me repeat. Cancer anywhere in the body—is a creeping, insidious thing, which sneaks up on its victims, betraying its presence only after it is well established and nowhere is this more true than in cancer of the mouth. As a matter of fact, most other conditions of the mouth, some of them quite trivial, are much more painful than cancer in its early stages.

Thus, when a tumor appears on the edge of the tongue, on the gum, on the roof of the mouth, or on the inside of the cheek, many persons consult a dentist before they visit a physician. Dr. Hayes Martin of New York found that in cancer of the gum, the opinion of the dentist had been sought first in 60 per cent of the cases. Therefore, dentists are —and must be — constantly on their guard to detect cancer, because early cancer is curable and late cancer is not.

Early cancer of the lining membrane of the mouth causes a small, hard patch or a sore. When the growth occurs on the gum or on the roof of the mouth, pain and tenderness may not be present for weeks or even months after the growth is first discovered by the patient himself. If the growth is located on the tongue, the floor of the mouth or the cheek, pain may be an early symptom or, in some cases, the first symptom.

As the mouth cancer progresses, ulcers and inflammation deeper in the tissues develop. Infection with germs occurs and then pain becomes more severe. Because mouth cancer is more serious than any other condition with which it might be confused, whenever a sore or growth occurs in the mouth it is important to make sure that it is not cancer. The fact that a sore in the mouth has been present for several weeks and is steadily increasing in size should suggest the possibility that it is a cancerous growth, and the doctor should be consulted at once.

Mouth cancer begins slowly and may progress for several weeks or even months before the patient seeks medical or dental advice.

The idea that these mouth cancers are incurable is entirely wrong. In fact, even when the growth is an inch in size before it is first discovered and treated, more than half of the patients can be completely cured.

Of course, to make a definite diagnosis, a bit of tissue from the growth can be removed and examined under the microscope, and this should be done whenever there is the slightest suspicion that mouth cancer is present.

Our buying problems are just about the same as those you have experienced. Pipe and valves — machinery and equipment — almost everything we need to operate a gas business is hard to get. Orders that had been placed more than a year ago are still unfilled. Much of the material that we had intended to use for construction during the past summer will not be delivered until sometime next year. And as a result our program of expansion planned for 1946 must be delayed, even though the demand for gas is today greater than ever before. That is why we have found it necessary to discontinue conversion to gas heating in homes which have other available methods. That is why we ask that gas be used wisely, without waste.

Our plans for the expansion of our system called for an investment of some $25,000,000.00. Shortages of materials, and skilled help, will postpone completion of this program. It may be that we will need the understanding cooperation of our customers during the coming winter so that no one will be deprived entirely of gas.

WOMAN AT KENTON TAKES OWN LIFE

Mrs. Marie Gordon Fewell Is Found in Bathroom.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Nov. 5—Mrs. Marie Gordon Fewell, 39, was found dead yesterday in the bathroom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Decker of 714 East Columbus street where she had been living. Court records show she filed a suit for divorce against her husband, Marion Fewell, on Oct. 14. She had hanged herself with a scarf from the bathroom door, according to a report from the Chief of Police C. W. Sheldon. Chief Sheldon and Patrolman Mondo Baldwin who investigated, said that no notes had been left by Mrs. Fewell. Hardin county coroner, Dr. John E. Mooney, gave a verdict of self inflicted death by strangulation.

The body of Mrs. Fewell was found at 4:35 p. m. by Kenneth Williams, a meter reader for the West Ohio Gas Co. at Kenton. Both Mr. and Mrs. Decker were away from home. Williams saw Mrs. Fewell hanging at the bathroom door which is on the first floor. She had partially opened the door and hung the scarf over the edge. Williams took the body down and called the Kenton police.

In the petition for divorce from her husband, Morris Marion Fewell, Mrs. Fewell asked divorce, alimony, and restoration of the name of Alta Marie Gordon. They were married July 7 of this year. Her first husband, Samuel Gordon, died three years ago.

Mrs. Fewell was born Aug. 2, 1907, in Logan county and had lived most of her life in Hardin county. She was a member of the Epworth Methodist church in Kenton. She was preceded in death by her father, Albert Schrader, and a sister, Miss Amie Schrader.

Surviving is her mother, Mrs. Ella Schrader of Kenton, a son, Paul Gordon of Forest, O., a junior at Forest High school, four sisters, Mrs. Reetha Collins of Mt. Victory, Mrs. Elsie Jones of Belle Center, O., Mrs. Luella Miller of Russel Point, and Mrs. Clementine Woods of Kenton, one brother, Henry Schrader of Belle Center, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be conduted at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Price funeral home in Kenton by Rev. W. L. Nofcier, pastor of the Methodist church. Burial will be in Grove cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home any time.

UMW Asks 25 Cent Pay Hike

Lewis Says Shorter Hours, Higher Wages Possible at Current Costs.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—The way John L. Lewis sees his wage dispute with the government: His 400,000 soft coal miners could get a 25 cent an hour pay boost and a shorter work week without adding to coal costs.

Economists for Lewis' United Mine Workers floated this possible trial balloon privately and cautiously today, telling reporters that Lewis was "convinced" the operators would not suffer under the higher-pay, shorter-hours arrangement.

They emphasized, however, that the UMW chief would specify his own demands in a showdown with Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug late this week.

The miners now get $1.18½ cents an hour for the first 35 hours of work in any week.

Meanwhile, both sides took an election-day breather in the highly delicate and secret negotiations which have been under way since Nov. 1.

Wildcat shutdowns of mines in southern West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and Tennessee spread yesterday. Conflicting opinions arose as to whether the shutdowns resulted from genuine "unrest" among the miners, misunderstanding over a possible strike date, or preelection turmoil.

With Lewis' new wage demands, the return may be delayed even longer.

Lewis' economists, however, insist that a reduction of the current 54-hour, six-day work week would mean a saving to the operators because the last 19 hours of the week now require premium pay of time and one-half, or $1.78 cents an hour.

They contend that dropping to a five day week would shave from 20 to 70 cents off the production cost of each ton of coal, the amount depending upon other cost factors.

On the average, they assert, this would permit a wage hike of 25 cents an hours in base pay without adding to present costs.

The miners' basic work week of 35 hours has been unchanged for nearly 10 years. The Krug-Lewis agreement of last spring added 18½ cents an hour to the previous $1 basic hourly rate.

N. Y. BALLOTING IS MODERATE

5,000,000 Eventually Seen Choosing Between Mead and Dewey.

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 5—Early balloting ran from light to moderate in New York state today as the vanguard of an estimated 5,000,000 voters went to the polls to choose between the Republican ticket headed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey and the Democratic-coalition slate led by U. S. Senator James M Mead.

Republicans, looking for a landslide victory, privately predicted a plurality running from 500,000 to 1,000,000 for Dewey over Mead, the gubernatorial nominee of the Democratic, American labor and Liberal parties. A Democratic spokesman foresaw triumph for his party of upward of 225,000.

The weather was clear, sunny and cool generally throughout the state.

Violence in Harlem

The first report of election day violence came from New York City's teeming Harlem. A Republican district captain said he was attacked from behind as he walked with his wife near a polling place. The slugging victim was hospitalized with a lacerated scalp and ear and possible internal injuries.

The voters' decision in the Empire State, impartial observers believed, might well set the pitch of political overtones in the other Middle Atlantic states.

In these predominately industrial states, containing about one-fourth of the national population, voters now are represented in the house of representatives by 48 Democrats and 55 Republicans. Today they choose for 105 house and six senate seats in Washington.

If Dewey wins heavily in New York, observers feel he might carry the entire Republican state ticket, thereby marking himself as a front runner for the 1948 G.O.P. presidential nomination.

"Rendezvous with Destiny"

His adversary, Mead, whose backers pick to win by a narrow margin, has declared Dewey thinks "he has a rendezvous with destiny at Washington" and said Dewey "has poured the taxpayers money into a campaign for the Presidency."

To reports of Presidential ambitions, Dewey has replied, when asked if he hoped to complete four years as governor, "I hope so."

Dewey used the Truman administration as a whipping boy throughout his campaign. Mead, supported by the American Labor and Liberal parties, has stood on the Democratic party record.

Some Democrats believe their candidate for the U. S. senate, Herbert H. Lehman, 69-year-old four-term governor of New York and former director of UNRRA, may run ahead of Mead to nose out his Republican foe, Irving M. Ives, 50, Republican leader of the state assembly.

the senate, already had started Washington's rumor factory talking of the possibility of a special session call immediately after the election.

But one responsible Democratic official said President Truman has given no intimation of any such plan.

This office holder said Republicans undoubtedly would be able to block any administration-sponsored legislation in such a lame duck session.

No Cabinet Changes

The official added that there has been no recent discussion of possible cabinet changes, although there are reports that Robert E. Hannegan may quit as Democratic national chairman next winter should the election results prove severely adverse to his party. Hannegan is expected by all concerned to remain as postmaster general.

Across the nation other potential 1948 presidential candidates were involved in affairs of their own.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, who carried the G.O.P. presidential banner in 1944, indirectly put himself in line for another try at it in 1948 with a reelection campaign. Republicans confidently predicted a substantial margin for Dewey over Senator James Mead, Democrat seeking to transfer from Washington to Albany.

A sizeable victory for Dewey was regarded as likely to carry Irving M. Ives, Republican, to success in his senate race with former Democratic Gov. Herbert Lehman.

Bricker Seeks Majority

In Ohio, former Gov. John W. Bricker, who held second place on the 1944 Republican national ticket, strove for a wide majority over Democratic Senator James Huffman. In Michigan, Senator Arthur Vandenberg, mentioned as a possible Presidential candidate, seemed to have only nominal opposition in Democrat James H. Lee.

Gov. Earl Warren of California, talked as a possible darkhouse for the 1948 G.O.P. nomination, gave last-minute aid to Senator William F. Knowland (R), who was locked in a close tussle with Will Rogers Jr., (D) in the senate race. Warren was sure of reelection, with both major party nominations.

Other senatorial contests which attracted attention included the effort of Gov. Edward Martin (R) to unseat Senator Joseph Guffey (D) in Pennsylvania.

Level Final Blasts

Party leaders leveled final blasts by radio last night in a bid to send the voters to the polls in vast numbers.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Republican campaign director, upped by five seats his previous estimates on G.O.P. gains in the house, declaring:

"I am now satisfied that we will make a net gain in the house of between 50 and 60 seats, with a rock bottom figure of 45."

"We are going to win a majority in the senate by either one or two seats," Brown added. "We may win two or three more."

He said his figures were based on reports that the G.O.P. had organized "with unusual effectiveness" to get out the vote.

"The people have determined to regain control of their government," Brown declared. "They had had enough of controls, confusion, corruption and Communism of the present administration."

"G.O.P. Needs Light Vote"

Hannegan, speaking on the same program, made no forecast of the outcome, but contended the Republicans' "one hope lies in a light vote."

"Having no program, having nothing constructive to offer the people," the Democratic national chairman said, "the Republican party is not eager for a decision from the whole electorate.

"Its one hope lies in a light vote, in slipping into office through a miscarriage of democracy.

"How can a party with such an objective be held responsible?" Hannegan continued. "How can its leaders be anything but indifferent to the will of the people?"

POLICE SEEK 2ND KIDNAPER

One Abductor of Two Ohio Women Tracked Down Through Billfold.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5 — Police today sought the second of two men purportedly involved in the abduction of two women and a child but were puzzled over the motive for their actions, which included a dash through central Ohio, an automobile accident and the intimidation at gunpoint of the victims.

John W. DeWeese, 22, of Columbus, one of the men, was charged with abduction and automobile theft after suburban Bexley Police Chief Roland E. McNamee said he had signed a statement that a companion and he had kidnaped Mrs. Morgan C. Penn of Bexley and later Mrs. Alice Eggleston and her four-year-old daughter of Springfield.

Chief McNamee said DeWeese gave no motive for the activities described in his statement. The women reported they were unharmed.

The police said a billfold dropped by DeWeese at the scene of the automobile accident led to his arrest.

From accounts furnished state highway patrolmen and Bexley police by the victims and from DeWeese's statement, here is what the police said occurred:

Mrs. Penn was driving in the suburb Sunday night when two motorists shouted that her car was afire. She stopped, only to be confronted by a gun-toting man who forced her into the car and took the wheel. Mrs. Penn said a second man followed in the other automobile.

Taking Mrs. Penn's car, the men drove through Columbus to West Jefferson, DeWeese continued. They halted Mrs. Eggleston on Route 29, telling her she had a flat tire. They forced their way into that automobile, using it to push the Penn car into a ditch.

Terrified, the woman and her daughter rode with the two men to Springfield where they left the car, with a warning that the police were not to be notified.

DeWeese said the first car crash gave him an injured shoulder which was treated at the Springfield City hospital. The Springfield Sun quoted a nurse as saying two men came in at 12:30 a. m. and that one was treated for a dislocated shoulder.

Omaha Voters' Ballot Resembles Small Novel

By The Associated Press

OMAHA, Nov. 5 — Voting in Omaha today was like curling up with a good book.

Voters were handed a 13-foot ballot containing 26,000 words—half the length of the average novel.

Most of the 57 questions pertain to a proposed $15,000,000 citywide improvement plan.

The unwieldly ballot was expected to slow up both voting and counting of votes. Mayor Charles W. Leeman appealed to citizens to make up their minds beforehand to avoid congestion at the polls.

There was one passenger car for every five persons in the United States in 1940.

PILES

DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely, if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

14-Year-Old Boys, Enroute To Africa, Have Close Call

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5—Enroute to Africa "to hunt lions and tigers," two 14-year-old boys and their dogs had a close call early today when their stolen, 25-foot cruiser plunged over a dam 17 miles west of here on the Ohio river.

The craft, which did not capsize, shot over the Fernbank dam "going about 20 miles an hour," according to lockmaster James P. Stutzman, who added, "only the boat's speed saved those boys because they dropped seven and one-half feet going over the dam."

The plunge disabled the cruiser and lock men brought the boys to shore and turned them over to juvenile authorities.

Police Lt. Otto Eschenbach said the boys gave him the following version:

"A man on the barge gave us two dogs and we decided to go hunting. Later, when we saw the cruiser tied up, we thought we'd go to Africa to hunt lions and tigers.

"We found plenty of stuff to eat and some pop on the boat, and when we hit the dam, I was eating a pickle."

Police said the cruiser was the property of Charles Mile, Newport, Ky., cafe owner, who valued the craft at $3,500. There was little damage, Mile said.

Most of Nation Voted Typically Fall Weather

By The Associated Press

The weather man voted typical fall weather for election day for most of the country.

But there was a Christmas mantle over Colorado, New Mexico and Kansas, with huge drifts of snow while rain was forecast in the southwest.

The heavy snowfall over the southern Rocky Mountain area, and extending as far south as the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandle, brought transportation in some sections to a virtual standstill. Federal forecasters in Chicago said there was 27 inches of snow on the ground in Denver, 22 inches at Lamar, Colo., 13 inches at Pueblo, and 8 inches at Dodge City, Kans.

But no rain or snow was predicted for the rest of the country.

In the New England region temperatures, after dipping to around freezing early in the morning, were expected to climb into the 40's. In the Mid-Atlantic states the mercury was expected to range from the low 50's in upper New York state to the low 60's in Virginia. The forecast was for partly cloudy.

Typical fall weather was predicted for the Ohio valley, Great Lakes, upper Mississippi valley and the northern Plains states. After early morning temperatures at or below freezing the mercury was expected to rise to the low or middle 50's.

Fair weather and temperatures in the 50's were predicted for the northern Rockies, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho—and the same forecast was for the great basin area, including Nevada and Utah.

Fair weather also was predicted for the Pacific coast, with rain forecast for the extreme northwest section of Washington.

FARM INCOME TO BE 65 CENTS AN HOUR

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5—That bonanza Ohio farmers are said to be reaping in these days of overstuffed food prices will simmer down to an average of 65 cents an hour in 1946, rural economists at Ohio State university said in a report today.

Tossed into the jackpot is the work done by the farmer's family bringing an average net income of around $2,300 for some 3,500 work hours. Most farmers put in 10 or more hours of field work daily during the crop season, the economists said. Livestockmen work even longer hours, according to the report.

Rated low compared with other workers incomes, the 65 cents an hour is lavish when set against the less than 25 cents an hour average in 1939, it was stated.

The farmer's economic status depends on crops prices, livestock and livestock products, the economists pointed out, adding that the net income goes toward purchase of equipment, repair of buildings, medical and dental bills and other living costs.

The buying power of the 250,000 farm familes in Ohio is reckoned at approximately $315,000,000 more this year than in 1939.

CEREMONY CONSECRATES SLAV-CATHOLIC RULER

Pittsburgh Rites Elevate 38-Year-old Priest.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 5—While echoing voices chanted a tenth century ritual in St. Paul's Cathedral, a 38-year-old priest was consecrated spiritual ruler of 300,000 Slav-Catholics today.

Thousands jammed the huge edifice and hundreds stood in the street for the colorful, ancient pageantry by which the Very Rev. Daniel Ivancho was elevated to the bishopric of Ruthenian Catholics in America.

He will serve as coadjutor bishop with the right of succession to The Most Rev Basil Takach, Apostolic exarch of Ruthenian Catholics in the United States As bishop of the exarchate of Pittsburgh, he will be directly subject to the pope and will be spiritual leader of 300,000 persons of 183 parishes and missions in 13 states

Today's ceremony marked the second time in history that a bishop has been consecrated in this country according to the ancient Byzantine-Slavonic rite developed by John Chrysostom, the tenth century preacher of Antioch and patriarch of Constantinople.

Ditch Work Approved For Hardin Farmers

Special to The Star

KENTON, Nov. 5—The Hardin county commissioners have granted petitions for more than 40 miles of ditch drainage to landowners in the Hog Creek Marsh area in western Hardin county. Recent spring floods caused a loss to farmers in this area when water stood for several days on some 4,000 acres of land.

County Engineer Paul Stong was ordered to survey the land involved and give an estimate of the cost. He was given until May 1, 1947, to complete the survey and if there is no protest at that time on the estimates, the project will be offered for sale.

HARDING MAKING LAST HOME STAND AS IRISH END SEASON

Sandusky Here Friday While St. Mary Visits Mt. Gilead

By GEORGE BORST

Friday night will be the last big night for lovers of gridiron capers. Marion Harding will be playing its last home game against Sandusky before journeying to Springfield and St. Mary will wind up its season at Mt. Gilead in a Mid-State league game.

The county half-dozens last weekend closed their seasons and most district teams will bid the marked turf adieu this weekend.

Harding Favored

Considering past showings against former opponents Harding will enter the contest against Sandusky as the favored eleven. Both teams have been impotent throughout the season. However, in almost setting Ashland back on their heels a week ago last Thursday, Harding showed that they have potential power and so will be rated as the better team at least until the contest is over.

Although one point better than Marion as a result of their showing so far as the score was concerned against Ashland, Sandusky failed to outplay the A's while Marion definitely did. According to the scores both teams posted against Mansfield the Praxies are 31 points better than Sandusky.

Irish in Finale

St. Mary will finish their season at Mt. Gilead and they, too, enjoy the distinction of being favored. In downing Columbus St. Mary Saturday night the local Shamrocks looked like a top-rate club and they bid by beating Mt. Gilead to make this a successful season although their record is not as impressive as it might have been.

They have won only one game in the Mid-State league while only losing one to out-of-league competition. St. Mary was handicapped by injuries throughout the season.

All eyes in this district will be focused on undefeated Carey when they play at Upper Sandusky Friday night. Last year the Blue Devils had a perfect record going into this contest and Upper knocked them off. This season Carey seems to have the more powerful of the two teams however Upper has a fairly impressive record, having lost only to Columbus North and Norwalk while gaining a tie with the Northern Ohio league champs, Shelby. Upper has six wins while Carey has seven wins and a tie.

Shelby Leads League

In the Northern Ohio league Shelby retained undisputed possession of first place by tieing their nearest rivals Upper Sandusky 0 to 0 last Friday night and will be league champs provided they get by fourth place Crestline next week. They are assured of at least a tie for the top spot and need only a victory or a draw to keep their position. The game will be played at Crestline.

Bucyrus finished its league playing by handing Bellevue a 21 to 0 defeat and will meet Delaware Willis next Friday in a home game. The Bucyrus Redmen are in fifth place in the league, a position they are assured of. The Shelby-Crestline game is the only league game to be played.

Galion Entertains Ashland

Galion in sixth place will entertain Ashland. Galion last week tied seventh place Willard 19 all while Ashland lost their second game of the year, 13 to 7, to Port Clinton.

In the Mid-State league, Marysville won their final league contest to become the undefeated wearer of the crown as they close their season.

The other teams in the league will be active, Mt. Gilead entertaining St. Mary and Richwood playing host to last place Sunbury. At present Richwood and Mt. Gilead both boasting a win, a loss, and a tie in league competition are deadlocked for second place while St. Mary, with one win and two losses is in fourth place.

The local Irish can move up a notch by defeating Mt. Gilead and

O.S.U.'S BIXLER SEES HARD TIME SATURDAY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5—Coach Paul Bixler foresees some rough football going next Saturday when his Ohio State eleven encounters Pittsburgh.

The Bucks mentor, who yesterday gave his gridders their first day off this season, felt the "boys have earned a rest" after the rugged Northwestern clash.

"That doesn't mean we're taking Saturday's game with Pittsburgh lightly," Bixler told newsmen.

He's cognizant of Pitt's "unorthodox defense" in which former Ohio Stater Wes Fesler sometimes uses four line backers.

"That makes it tough on a running game," Bixler said. "It should make 'em weak against long passes, but it hasn't seemed to bother 'em so far. But we'll try to figure out something."

Other former Ohio Staters at Pittsburgh are Dick Fisher, erstwhile Buck backfield ace now on Fesler's coaching staff; Robert Hum, freshman halfback from Fisher's hometown, Columbiana; Ralph Short, a frosh quarterback, and Bob Plotz, first-year tackle, both from Martins Ferry. Plotz was a top scholastic gridder last year, starring for the south team in the All-Ohio, All-Star game at Toledo.

Fesler, an All-America end while an Ohio Stater, hopes to chalk up his first triumph against the Bucks since 1936. As a varsity end, Fesler played alongside Dick Larkin, newly named Buckeye athletic director.

Ohio High Schools Set For Several "Games Of Year"

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 5—They're billing 'em all as "the game of the year" on Ohio's high school gridirons this week.

And small wonder.

The weekend program offers such outstanding attractions as Upper Arlington vs. Grandview and Youngstown Woodrow Wilson vs. Youngstown East as well as a host of others.

The Arlington-Grandview tilt, booked Friday, always is a natural, but this year these two neighboring Columbus suburbs come roaring down the stretch with unbeaten - untied records. Each has won seven in a row, and the winner of this season's finale will have a strong claim to the mythical Ohio schoolboy grid title.

Another Yearly Scrap

The Woodrow Wilson-East scrap at Youngstown is another yearly feature with added interest. Woodrow Wilson is the city's only "perfect" team. East has bowed once, to Youngstown Ursuline, but asserted its claim to fame last week by knocking off previously unbeaten-untied Campbell Memorial, 18 to 0, to end an 18-game victory streak for Campbell.

At least five other class A schools with unblemished records are booked in topnotch grid offerings.

Cincinnati Purcell, with 26 wins and a tie in its last 26 games, will risk its perfect season Sunday against Cincinnati Elder, knocked from the undefeated class in its recent outing against Cincy St. Xavier. Xavier, also nearing a perfect season, takes on Cincinnati Roger Bacon the same day.

Lima Central, which knocked Dayton Oakwood out of the perfect circle with a 54-6 walloping last week, tangles with twice-beaten Fremont Ross Friday.

East Palestine will try to stretch its clean record past Columbiana, a class B eleven which dropped its first in 14 starts last week, 26 to 6, to Lisbon.

Guns for No. 9

Troy will be gunning for No. 9 in a row against Miamisburg Friday.

At least three class B schools will be protecting spotless seasons, too.

Lockland, a Cincinnati suburb with 18 consecutive successes, tangles with Wyoming; Elida goes after No. 19 against Ada, and Arlington of Hancock county tries to wind up an unbeaten-untied year against Van Buren. All three tilts are Friday.

In topnotch battles matching teams with already-blemished slates, once-beaten, once-tied Massillon takes on once-defeated Toledo Waite, and Newark and Zanesville, each with one loss, collide in a fray that will help decide the Central Ohio league title. The two are tied currently for the loop lead with Coshocton, all sporting 5-1 records. Undefeated but once-tied Steubenville Central Catholic and Toledo Libbey are matched against East Liverpool and Toledo Woodward, respectively. Cleveland Cathedral Latin, tied once but undefeated, meets Cleveland Central Saturday.

SUGAR ROBINSON FACES HANDICAP

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5 — Ray (Sugar) Robinson, uncrowned king of this world's welterweights, will battle against the greatest weight handicap of his ring career tomorrow night when he attempts to move into the middleweight top row at the expense of Artie Levine, clouting ex-Marine of Brooklyn.

Ray Arcel, noted trainer who has kept a watchful eye on Levine's workouts, said today, "Artie will pack some extra poundage into the ring against Robinson. He will weigh in at 160 at noon—but he is going to put away two healthy meals before the fight which may raise his weight to 164."

"That extra poundage could be the difference," said Arcel, "because we want Levine to pack all the power possible when he gets an open shot at Robinson's jaw. Artie should be able to take it from there."

Still labeled one of the "sweetest" fighters in the game, Robinson and his business manager, George Gainford, have made no secret of the fact that they'll be clamoring for a middleweight title shot at champion Tony Zale if Sugar tops Levine. Robinson gets a chance to make his welter diadem official in a return bout with Tommy Bell next month.

No Recount Needed To Decide Nation's Two Best Grid Teams

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 — It did not take a recount today to determine the results of the weekly election of college football's two most popular candidates.

Even before the ballot boxes were opened in The Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers throughout the nation, the outcome was certain. Army and Notre Dame had been awarded another of those landslide votes that kept the two teams in the forefront as the people's choices this fall.

The principals in football's national championship classic at Yankee Stadium this Saturday have been up there with monotonous regularity every week but one since this year's poll started. That week the voters put the dark-horse candidate, Texas, over Army and dropped Notre Dame to third place.

Penn, to the surprise of practically no one, lost its hold on third place due to the Quaker's 17-14 upset by Princeton, and skidded to ninth. Penn's former spot at No. 3 was filled by Georgia.

University of California at Los Angeles retained fourth-place and Rice, No. 8 last week advanced to No. 5, with Texas moving up a notch to sixth place. Tennessee went from tenth place to seventh. Georgia Tech went from 16th to eighth. After Penn at No. 9 came Illinois, up from eleventh last week. Northwestern, sixth last week, nose-dived sharing position No. 17 with North Carolina which also slipped from the first ten.

Based on the usual system of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for a second, eight for a third, and so on, Army, piled up 1,176 points, 471 less than last week. Notre Dame's point total of 1,140 was 338 under the previous count.

Washington Cage Pros Whip Pittsburgh 71-56

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 5—The Washington entry in the newly-organized Basketball Association of America already is showing its class with some fancy point scoring.

Now atop the 11-club circuit, the Washington five overpowered Pittsburgh 71-56 in the only league game last night. Saturday night, the Capitols spoiled the Detroit Falcon's home opener with a 50-33 verdict.

The Pittsburgh Ironmen suffered their second defeat in as many starts in spite of the stellar performance of forward Brooms Abramovic, former Selem (W. Va.) college star and holder of two national records, who racked up 22 points.

CENTRAL MACHINE ROLLS OVER VERNON

Central's strong gridiron machine last night kept its city record free of a score, a loss, or a tie by trampling injury riddle Vernon 19 to 0 in the varsity contest and 13 to 0 in the reserve contest.

Coach Pete Howison ran two teams against the East siders in the varsity contest playing his mates until the necessity of sending the first stringers arose.

The Up-Towners jumped to an early lead when their speed merchant, Hypes, on the third play of the game raced off his own left tackle to scoot 50 yards and score. Quarterback Williams added the point.

The second Central drive started on the Vernon 49 and was climaxed by a 40 yard jaunt by Castanien, who had replaced Hypes in the Central backfield. Central started another touchdown drive on their 48. Leffler went over to make it 19 to 0 from the six.

Vernon then made their deepest penetration of the game in going to the Central seven, several penalties against Central aiding this drive. A pass Zimmerman to Bash from the 21 was ruled good because of interference on the seven as the half ended.

In the third quarter L. Williams recovered a fumble on the Vernon 13. Hypes again toted for the marker going from the 11.

Early in the final period Hypes received a punt on the 45. He reversed his field and behind excellent interference raced down the west side line to cross the north goal line. Speros plunged for the point.

In the last part of the game Castanien posted the final marker from the three and J. Williams made the point after.

In the reserve engagement McDaniel scored on a 28-yard run the third play from scrimmage in the game. Kasotis to Bascos was incomplete for the point.

McDaniels scored again in the last quarter after Day had returned a punt 20 yards to the Vernon ten. McDaniel went across from less than a yard out and also made the point.

Vote Today Likely To Forecast 1948 Trend

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5—If history runs true to form, the nation's voters will decide today—two years in advance—which political party is to take over the Presidency in the 1948 elections.

Only once since the Civil War, and it was a quirk then, has the party which won control of the house in an off-year election failed to put its candidate into the White House two years later.

This is an off-year election.

The exception that proved the rule was in 1876, when Democrats won the house. Two years later, Samuel Tilden, a Democrat, won a popular vote majority in the Presidential race, but the election was thrown into the house when some southern electoral votes were challenged. A Republican, Rutherford B. Hayes, was seated as President.

During World War II, about two-thirds of the total tonnages of all military goods used by U. S. fighting forces were gasoline, fuel oils and petroleum products.

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 — The election, together with its results, is taking precedence in tonight's broadcasting. All networks will be in action, with a couple sidetracking regular schedules most of the evening, while the other two are adopting a somewhat different procedure.

How developments are to be handled is outlined in this compilation:

NBC — In addition to regular news spots, periodic returns at 8:26, 8:56, 9:24, 9:54 and 10:25, inserted between regular shows; thereafter at 11 until signoff, expected to come at least an hour later than usual, results, comment and roundtable.

CBS — Regular news periods, followed by five-minute preliminary returns at 8, 8:55, 9:25; then 10:30 until conclusion, with the concentration on analysis rather than figures.

ABC — After early newscasts, returns to start at 8:15, followed at 8:30 by a drama giving highlights of the lives of senatorial and gubernatorial candidates, with a return to vote compilation at 9 and continuing until 1 a. m. or later.

MBS — Regular commentators, with first election special at 7:15; usual schedule 8 to 9, followed by commentation and continuous vote results until there is an indication of the overall results.

The network relays will make provision for local stations to insert their own returns.

Using press association reports as the basis for their broadcasts, the networks will have their full quota of commentators available in addition to pickups from various parts of the country for regional developments.

In television, CBS has scheduled a visual display of the vote, but NBC, which uses Tuesday as the night off for its staff, decided to forego a telecast.

Cleveland Mayor Says Lausche Sure To Win

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 5—Cleveland's Democratic mayor, Thomas A. Burke, said today his dentist had influenced his conviction that Governor Frank J. Lausche would be reelected.

"This morning he said Tom Herbert would be the next governor, and I'm just going along on the theory my dentist still is 100 per cent wrong."

BUCYRUS, Nov. 5—Traffic accidents in Bucyrus fell off in October when only 19 were investigated by the police department as compared with 31 the previous month.

Accidents for the year, however, are in excess of the figure for the same period last year, with 194 to date as against 111 for the first 10 months of 1945. A total of 45 persons were injured in accidents to date this year more than doubling the 22 injured up to Nov. 1, 1945.

Boy, 3, Causes Mother To Be Held for Murder

By The Associated Press

FAIRFIELD, Ill., Nov. 5—Mrs. Lois Wilson, attractive, 24-year-old mother of two small children, was held in the Wayne county jail without bond on a charge of murder in the shooting of her husband after, authorities said, her three-year-old son told them "Mommy shoot him."

Coroner Walter A. Young said authorities had questioned the boy, Linden Wilson, about the shooting after his mother said her husband, Leon, 29, was wounded fatally yesterday when a shotgun discharged accidentally while one of their children was playing with it.

State's Attorney Virgil E. Mills, who filed the murder warrant, said Wilson, an oil field worker, apparently was killed by a shotgun blast as he lay asleep in bed. An inquest was scheduled for tomorrow.

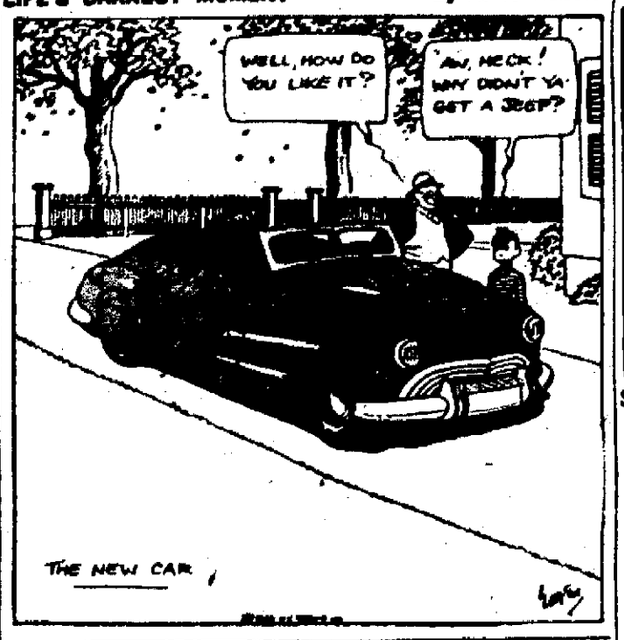
REMORSE, FEAR, LOVE, ANGER, JOY AND SORROW ARE SAID TO BE AMONG THE PRINCIPAL CAUSES OF SLEEPLESSNESS

LIFE'S DARKEST MOMENT — By H. T. Webster



LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

IF I had not been so conscious of the seriousness of our errand, I think I should have laughed aloud at the bewilderment on Dr. Twitchell's face as, lifting his feet with infinite care, he trundled his portly, elderly body across the attic from the entrance door to the immense chimney at which my father stopped.

I saw him send keen glances around the large space in search of the bed holding the patient whom he had been asked to attend. And when my father put his hand upon the cunningly hidden mechanism which gave entrance to the steps on the other side, and the chimney side swung open, I feared the old physician's eyes might be permanently injured from strain, so widely opened and protruding did they seem.

A Professional Poise

But I paid tribute to his professional poise as he obeyed my father's gesture and followed Katharine through the door. Not by word or movement did he betray astonishment. One would think, I told myself, that this was his usual procedure in visiting his patients, and my father's voice was warm with approval as he halted with us for a moment on the square landing just inside the chimney from which the stairs went downward.

"I congratulate you, Dr. Twitchell," he said. "You do not waste time in astonished exclamations."

Not Old Enough

"I trust I am not yet old enough to be garrulous," Dr. Twitchell answered with dignity.

"You couldn't be that if you were a hundred," my father told him. "And as we are now in a sound-proofed stairway, I can give you a little explanation of this, which I need not tell you is a secret of the greatest importance. I know without even asking your promise, that you will guard it securely."

Dr. Twitchell opened his lips, I think to protest that he wished no explanation, but he closed them promptly again, for my father went on swiftly to explain the history of the stairway winding down way beneath the cellars, dating back to pre-revolutionary times. He told of the secret room and tunnels from it to points in the woods outside which he had built and provisioned for just such sanctuary as was now needed for Hugh Grantland, for Lee Chow, and for Jack Bickett.

"It is our Chinese guest who needs your care," he said. "From Mrs. Underwood's report, he is in sore straits."

Words Not Exaggerated

His words were not exaggerated, I told myself a few seconds later when we had descended the stairs, and my father's signaling knock had brought Junior to the door. My young son's face and that of his cousin, Roderick, were pale with fear, an emotion which clutched at my own throat chokingly as I saw the emaciated face and staring, pain-filled eyes of the old Chinese.

In the next instant, I remembered that he was not an "old" Chinese, but a man of approximately the age of Hugh Grantland.

But he looked thirty years older than Hugh, as he struggled agonizingly for breath, sitting up in his bed, supported on either side by Hugh and by Jack.

An Able Physician

I know Dr. Twitchell's reputation as an exceedingly able physician, and I was not surprised to see him go into action immediately. He strode as vigorously toward the bed as a man half his age, taking off his coat, flinging it on the nearest chair, and rolling up his shirt sleeves as he went. His bag he had handed to Katharine with a murmured word, and, carrying it with her own, she was at the bedside as soon as he was.

His practiced fingers went to the pulse of the sick man, and Hugh Grantland anticipated his question.

"He had a dose of this," he said holding out a vial, "five minutes ago. It usually helps him, but there are no effects as yet."

"Boiling water?" Dr. Twitchell barked, opening his bag.

"Yes, on the little electric stove yonder," Hugh answered, and the physician thrust a package into Katharine's hand.

"A hypodermic, full strength, of this," he said.

FOR RESULTS USE THE STAR WANT ADS

Rip Kirby — By Alex Raymond

HEY, WHAT IS IT?
OH, NOTHING— THAT VOCALIST GAVE ME A START. SHE REMINDS ME OF FAGAN LEE...
HM-M! YOU'RE EARLY REMINDED OF HER! I SUPPOSE SHE'S IN JAIL...WITH HER FELLOW THUGS?
NOR, HONEY, BE FAIR! I'D NEVER HAVE BROKEN THE MANGLER MOB WITHOUT HER HELP! YES, SHE'S BEEN ARRESTED— BUT I'VE ASKED TO HAVE HER PAROLED IN MY CARE...
HOW SWEET OF YOU TO PUT YOURSELF OUT!
SARCASM DOESN'T BECOME YOU, HONEY. FAGAN DESERVES A CHANCE TO REDEEM HERSELF. I'M GOING TO HELP HER GET IT!

Superman — By Jerry Siegel and Joe Shuster

SHORTLY BEFORE MIDNIGHT...
MAYBE I'M A FOOL TO PAY ANY ATTENTION TO THE PRANKSTER'S PROPHECY THAT I'LL SAVE A PLANE FROM DESTRUCTION TONIGHT... BUT HIS OTHER PROPHECIES CAME TRUE, AND I'M TAKING NO CHANCES.
AND AT METROPOLIS AIRPORT...
FLIGHT 82 IS LONG OVERDUE!
AND THE RADIO BEAM HAS GONE ON THE BLINK! THE PLANE MUST BE LOST IN THE FOG!
A PLANE— ABOUT TO CRASH INTO A SKYSCRAPER!

Dick Tracy — By Chester Gould

THAT GARGLES MUST BE A REAL RAT.
GOSH, THE PLEA THAT LITTLE GIRL, THEMESONG, MADE WOULD SOFTEN ANYBODY.
GLASS
THERE—AT LAST! I FINALLY GOT MY FOOT TURNED AROUND SO THAT I CAN GET SOME LEVERAGE ON THIS LID. THERE—
GLASS
YES, CHIEF. BLOOD SPOTS ON THE PAVEMENT. PAT AND I ARE GOING TO THE PLATE GLASS COMPANY'S GARAGE AND INSPECT THE WRECKED TRUCK.
NOW, THEMESONG, WE WANT YOU TO GO ON THE AIR AND READ THIS DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF GARGLES.
YES, MA'M

Gasoline Alley — By Frank King

HOW ABOUT THE TITLE TO MY PROPERTY, MR. HABEAS?
SIT DOWN, MR. WALLET. I HAVE EXAMINED THE ABSTRACT AND FIND IT REMONABLY GOOD.
BACK IN 1908, WHEN THE LAND WAS A SUBDIVISION LOT, THERE WAS A $90 MORTGAGE AGAINST IT.
THERE IS NO RECORD OF IT'S BEING SATISFIED. THEN IN 1917, A SIMON BAILEY EXECUTED A WARRANTY DEED.
IT WAS NOT SIGNED BY HIS WIFE, IF ANY, AND NO STATEMENT THAT HE WAS A BACHELOR OR WIDOWER.
THESE FLAWS ARE MINOR AND ANCIENT, AND I WOULD ADVISE YOUR ACCEPTING THE TITLE AS ADEQUATE.

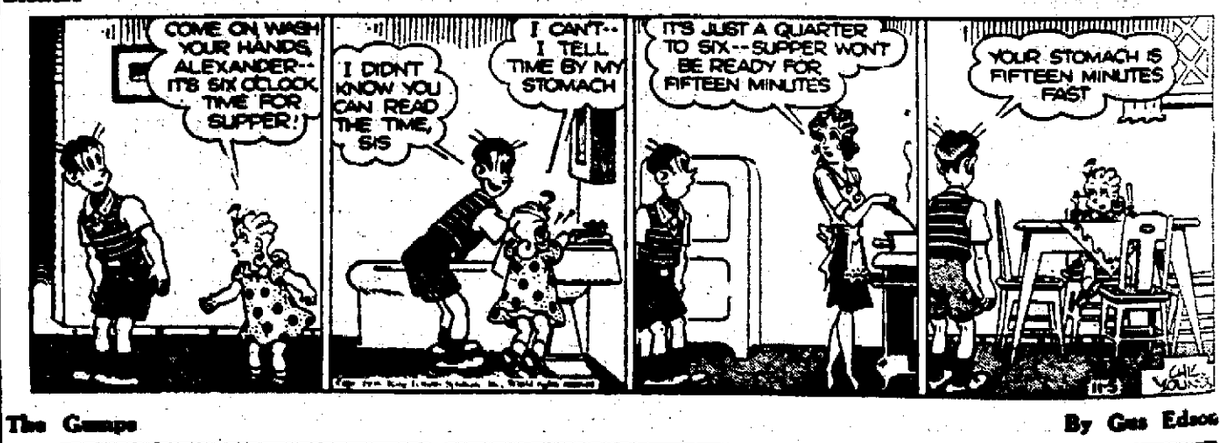
Joe Palooka — By Ham Fisher

WE'RE MEETING THE BUNCH AT TURKEY KNOB. THEY'LL ALL RIDE IN FROM A GREAT CIRCLE.
HOPE SOMEBODY'LL HAVE A REPORT. THERE'S FIFTY RIDERS. THEY'LL COVER THIS TERRITORY LIKE A FINE TOOTH COMB.
LOOK...THERE'S A GRIZZLY!
GLAD HE AIN'T HONGRY. I'D SHORE TOTE A GUN UP HERE. PLENTY COUGAR AN' BEAR IN THESE HIGH PARTS.

Terry and the Pirates — By Milton Caniff

THE INDO-CHINESE NATIVES WHO SALVAGED THE SCORCHED METAL FROM THE WRECK OF SNAKE TEMBLIN'S AIRPLANE HAD PUT UP A CROSS AT THE SPOT... IT SAID "HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE"...
I REMEMBER HOW I YELLED FOR SNAKE'S PARACHUTE TO OPEN
I NEARLY BLEW MY RADIO TRANSMITTER!
THE JAP PATROLS ON THE GROUND ALMOST CAUGHT ME BECAUSE I WAS HOLLERING THE SAME THING!
I GUESS THAT MEANS OL' SNAKE GOT IT—FOR KEEPS!
I GUESS SO...
NOW YOU CAN COURT JANE ALLEN WITHOUT HAVING A CONSCIENCE ABOUT HIM!

Blondie — By Chic Young



COME ON, WASH YOUR HANDS, ALEXANDER-- IT'S SIX O'CLOCK, TIME FOR SUPPER!
I DIDN'T KNOW YOU CAN READ THE TIME, SIS
I CAN'T-- I TELL TIME BY MY STOMACH
IT'S JUST A QUARTER TO SIX--SUPPER WON'T BE READY FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES
YOUR STOMACH IS FIFTEEN MINUTES FAST

The Gumps — By Gus Edson

THEY EAT LIKE INVALIDS HERE—THE PORTIONS AT DINNER WERE SMALLER THAN THOSE SERVED IN OLD LADIES' BOARDING HOUSES!
SAVE THAT CHATTER—CAN'T EAT AND TALK AT THE SAME TIME—
GOOD THING WE FOUND THIS HAM—I'M JUST BEGINNING TO FEEL THE LIFE BLOOD RETURNING TO MY VEINS
HMPF! IF A MOUSE WAS LOCKED UP IN THIS ICE BOX, HE'D STARVE BEFORE HE FROZE!
I'LL CATCH MY DEATH OF COLD CHASING YOUR IMAGINARY BURGLARS!
IMAGINARY?! SOUNDS LIKE A CONVENTION OF ELEPHANTS! I'D BETTER PHONE FOR THE POLICE!
